BOSTON, November 28.

The following extract from the instructions of the town of Franklin, in this State, to Colonel John Boyd, its representative, will be read with pleasure by every one who wishes a continuation of those blessings, which, under God, have been the happy effects of the administration of our national government, on truly federal principles, the last twelve years.

To COLONEL JOHN BOYD,

SIR, THIS town, relying on your ability and integrity, have chosen you to represent them in the General Court of this Commonwealth the present year. This year, some of the most important concerns of the United States are to be transacted; and in which our General Court will soon, take a very interesting part, (viz.) the appointment of Electors of President and Vice-President of the United States. That even one elector should be appointed who is likely to give his vote for a man to be President or Vice-President, who has, from the press in the most public manner, given his opinion, that it is quite indifferent whether a man believes that there are "twenty Gods or no God," and adds this as a reason (viz.) "it neither picks my pocket nor breaks my leg," must be a painful consideration to every serious mind. And that there is any prospect, that any man of atheistical or deistical principles will be chosen into either of these important places of trust, is still more alarming. Therefore to prevent, (if possible,) a calamity so much to be dreaded, every precaution becomes necessary. And as the General Court at their next session, are to choose Electors for President and Vice-President of the United States, you are instructed to do all in your power to prevent any person being chosen an Elector of President and Vice-President, who you even suspect will give his vote for any man of an atheistical or deistical character, or for any man that will vote for the author of Jefferson's Notes on Virginia.

NEW-HAMPSHIRE, [6.]—To the Editor.

Concord, Nov. 26.—The Legislature has this moment completed the choice of Electors of President and Vice-President.—They are:—

The Hon. OLIVER PEABODY, JOHN PRENTICE, BENJAMIN BELLOWES, EBENEZER THOMPSON, ARTHUR LIVERMORE, and TIMOTHY FARRAR, etq.

On this choice, I feel a proud satisfaction, in congratulating the Federal Republicans of the United States. They are truly all "ADAMS and PINCKNEY Electors."

Thus far our correspondent.—In the above list we recognize some of the most eminent men of New-Hampshire. Two or three of them are Judges of the Supreme Judicial Court—one is Speaker of the House of Representatives—another is Treasurer of the State;—and all are men who have sustained a high reputation.

THANKSGIVING DAY.

On Thursday last orations, praise and thanksgiving were offered up, in all the temples dedicated to the worship of almighty God, in the New England States. In this commonwealth, as far as we have been able to ascertain, the invitation of our excellent Chief Magistrate was universally accepted, and the clergy, in their prayers and discourses, paid their grateful and affectionate homage to the author of all good, for his distinguishing kindness to our forefathers and to us, in providing them a refuge from oppression, and protecting them when surrounded with innumerable dangers. In blessing them with innumerable dangers. In blessing them with civil liberty, and the light and influence of the gospel, and disposing them to nurture their posterity in the love of learning, virtue and rational freedom: In supporting us through the difficulties of the late revolution, and giving us wisdom to establish constitutions favorable to liberty and happiness. In prospering the administration of government, and preserving the important life of the Chief Magistrate of the Union: In exempting us during the last year, from the calamities of war, and from wasting sickness and every desolating judgment; and in succeeding the labors of the husband-man, and crowning the year with its fruits; and for that degree of protection and prosperity which he has been pleased to afford to our commerce, navigation and fishery: For the progress of literature and the useful arts; for the numerous bounties of his Providence and all that variety which supports or delights our lives; and especially for the blessing of the gospel of his son, who has brought life and immortality to light. On these subjects of thanksgiving, and which their precepts and examples have been so instrumental in preserving. The clergy amply dilated; and inculcated, in the morals and applications of their discourses, those principles and duties which, under the smiles of Heaven, will perpetuate the blessings we enjoy. The time did not call for the exercise of their right, on these occasions, to denounce from their pulpits the arts, intrigues and designs of factious men; or the "diplomatic skill" of foreign nations;—But when the times do call for the exercise of it, knowing their independence and patriotism, we know they will not shrink from their duty; fearless of the persecutions they may suffer therefrom; or the abuse which they know will continue to be poured on them. They must ere this, have learned to pity the meanness and inconsistency of their impudencies. They ought to feel suitably impressed with their impotence and influence in society; and be determined, that it shall ever be said with truth.

That Eagles towering in their pride of place Have been by mouning owls hawk'd at, and killed.

On Tuesday arrived at Portland, ship Thomas Ruffel, capt. Jackson, from Leghorn. She sailed from thence October 5. Mr. Tilden, who came in the ship, arrived in town on Wednesday evening. He informs, that the new armistice had been announced to the French and German armies in Italy. That the French were in possession of Lucca; That the inhabitants of Leghorn and its vicinity, appeared to detest the French most heartily—and determined, young and old, to oppose them, by every means in their power, if they should attempt the invasion of that place; That several piratical cruizers, were out from Corsica, and captured every vessel they could meet; among others, they lately took the Diana, Capt. Thomas, of Bolton; but he had the good fortune to retake his vessel. A great number of American vessels have recently entered the Mediterranean; and have reduced the markets in most of the ports in that sea. The Thomas Ruffel, fold her cargo at Genoa. The Boston of Bolton was at Leghorn, intending for Naples. The Hibernia and Tamerlane, were at Genoa. Trio had arrived at Leghorn. The Thomas Ruffel, spoke no vessels on her homeward passage.

The French prisoners made by the capture of the Berceau, have been landed at Fort Independence. The Officers we understand, have been admitted to parole, and are now in town. Several gentlemen of this town, by subscription, have presented the prisoners with a quantity of the best provisions of the season, to afford them a "Thanksgiving Entertainment."

NEW-YORK, December 4.

The American Envoys to France took leave of the First Consul on the fourth day of October. It is judged necessary to mention that circumstance, because, in transferring the article for the Mercantile Advertiser of Tuesday morning, we stated that the ceremony took place about mid-day of the twelfth. To make this erroneous statement were the appearance of probability, the printers of the other papers altered either the date of the article, or the time of taking leave, each according to his own particular judgment. The fact is, the convention was signed on the Ninth, the entertainment was given on the Eleventh, and the Envoys took leave on the Twelfth—but it was the month Vendemiaire of the Republican calendar, corresponding with 11, 3d, 4th of October. They were at Havre on the 8th.

It is said the Pennsylvania Legislature have passed the Electoral Bill, agreeably to the Senate's Bill of 8 and 7. The Demos here don't like this—their imprecations are louder against the lower house than they were against the Senate. These fellows there's no pleasing them.

Some of Jefferson's friends still hope.—They hope that some of the Federal Electors may have dropped Pinckney.

It is honourable to the citizens of Philadelphia, that after making generous contributions to the inhabitants of those places which have suffered by the yellow fever, there still remains, unappropriated, upwards of 2000 dollars.

Extract of a letter received from a master of an American vessel carried into New Providence, dated

New Providence, Nov. 8.

"I found here a number of American vessels belonging to different ports sent in, in consequence of a late order to stop and condemn all Spanish produce, or manufacturers of an enemy's country."

LANCASTER, Dec. 3. PRESIDENTIAL ELECTORS.

At length the great question which agitated the public mind, is decided. The House of Representatives of this State have agreed to the last bill on this subject, from the Senate. In consequence of this the two Houses met yesterday in Convention in the Chamber of the House of Representatives. The Speaker of the Senate presided. Eight persons were nominated on each side. The federal nomination consisted of Frederick Kuhn, Jas. Armstrong, George Ege, Robert Coleman, John Hubley, William Hall, Samuel W. Fisher, and James Crawford, sen. Those nominated on the democratic side, were Robert Whitehill, Samuel Wetherill, John Kean, Jonas Hartzel, Gabriel Heister, Presly Carr Lane, Nathaniel B. Boileau, & Isaac Van Horne. As by the bill only seven of the Senate's nomination were to be appointed electors, the democrats all opposed Mr. Coleman, and he was consequently thrown out.

BALTIMORE, December 3.

Notwithstanding the late and severe calamities which have fallen with such ruthless strokes on our city, it appears to derive new life and vigor from every blow, and become a greater object of distant as well as neighbouring districts. Our markets now vie, in plenty, variety and cheapness with any to be found, 308 market waggons and carts were counted by the market-master at half past 10 o'clock this morning; and at 7 o'clock, he thinks there must have been nearly 400!!

RALEIGH, November 25.

The Legislature on Tuesday last, made choice of Thomas Rogers, William Hill, and K. Love, Esq's, for engraving clerks, and on Thursday, voted Mr. Joseph Gales, public printer. Nothing of importance has yet occurred in the Assembly.

Was executed at Fayetteville, on Friday last, pursuant to sentence, John Rogers, for the murder of his brother-in-law.

A bark house containing 60 hides, &c., belonging to Mr. Christopher, of this place, was burnt to the ground on Saturday evening last.

ANNAPOLIS, [M.] December 1.

On Thursday last, an important question was to be argued before the Legislature of this State. There are upwards of 130 applications for the benefit of an insolvent law. A memorial signed by 113 merchants, &c. of Baltimore, was sent to the house of Delegates, requesting to be heard by counsel in opposition to the petitioners: R. G. Harper Esq, was to appear in behalf of the merchants, and it is understood that he proposed to show that the bankrupt law of the United States, is the only mode by which a debtor can be released—Luther Martin Esq. was employed on behalf of the petitioners and would defend the validity of the State law.
