YOUNG MISSES' ACADEMY.

NOTHING in this country, is so difficult to be met with, as good literary establishments, furnished with Teachers qualified to conduct Young Ladies through all the branches of instruction necessary and ornamental; and if there are some good Schools in the principal towns, as they do not in common take in boarders, the benefit is lost to many rich families living in the country, which would, at any rate, bring up their children in a distinguished way. This gave the idea of establishing a Boarding School, whose plan was first announced to the public three months ago in the Maryland Gazette, and which has already deserved the attention and encouragement of some of the most worthy families in Baltimore. Mrs. Lacombe, a French lady, Directress of this Academy, has endeavoured to join every convenience that could possibly assist her in giving the most finished education to her pupils.

English grammar, geography, and arithmetic, are demonstrated by Mrs. Beck from London, who is also qualified to give particular lessons in drawing. French is constantly practised in the school, besides the daily lessons given on grammar by a gentleman from Paris, who was there a President of a College.

Writing, common sewing, and every kind of embroidery and tambour are likewise taught assiduously. The young boarders especially are attended to with the utmost care; the house is ample and convenient; accommodations abundant; servants and superintendants numerous; in short, nothing is spared that can afford them either utility or convenience.

For further information, application may be made to the right Rev. Dr. CARROLL, or Mrs. Lacombe herself, South-street, opposite Water street. September 8, 1795. *cod3w.

DUTY ON CARRIAGES.

For and upon every chariot the yearly sum of 8 dollars. For and upon every phaeton and coachet, the yearly sum of 6 dollars. For and upon every other four wheel and two wheel top carriage, the yearly sum of 2 dollars. And upon every other two wheel carriage one dollar.

The Officers of Inspection of the First Survey of the district of Pennsylvania, will attend within the month of September next, at No. 117, in Saffar's street, in the city of Philadelphia; at the house of Daniel St. Clair, Esq. in the county of Montgomery; and at the house of Mr. Abraham Dubois, in the county of Bucks; of which all persons possessed of such carriages are desired to take notice.

NOTICE IS ALSO GIVEN, To all retail dealers in wines, and foreign distilled spirituous liquors, that licences will be granted to them, one licence for carrying on the business of retailing wines in a less quantity, or in less quantities than 30 gallons— and one licence for carrying on the business of retailing spirituous liquors in less quantities than 20 gallons, at the same time, and at the same places, by the officers legally authorized to grant such licences.

William Nichols, Inspector of the Revenue of First Survey of the District of Pennsylvania
