Forty Dollars Reward.

RAN away from the subscriber, living at Mordington Mills, near Frederica, in Kent county, State of Delaware, on the night of the 27th of June last, a slave negro man named BENN, about 27 years old, 5 feet 10 or 11 inches high, of a yellow complexion, and might pass for a mulatto. The clothes he had on cannot, with exactness, be described, as he made several breaches of honesty, in that way, on his setting out. He is a very great floven in his dress; has naturally a condemned and furlly countenance, altho' he at times affects a smiling one; his visage is thin, with large black whiskers; the whites of his eyes often red; it is not recollected whether he has any particular flesh-marks, except on his back, where may be seen (tho' light) the scars of the whip, placed by judicial authority, for house-breaking, lock-breaking, stealing, &c. as well before, as since I purchased him. He is possessed of but a small share of reason or sensibility; a great coward, tho' his looks are devilish, and at the same time sneaking. As he took his flight upwards from here, at the commencement of harvest, it is presumed he was persecuted by some of the free negroes in this quarter to make his escape with them—should he not be in Philadelphia, he is probably between here and there.

Whoever takes up the said negro Benn, and secures him in any public goal, so that his master may get him again, shall have the above reward; and if brought home additional charges for reasonable expenses, paid by James Douglass.

Charlotte a tale of truth—by Mrs. J. Swinn, of the new Theatre, Philadelphia. Second American edition—Price 75 cents. [The rapid sale of the first edition of this entertaining novel, in a few months is the best criterion of its merit.]

EXTRACT FROM THE CRITICAL REVIEW, A BRILL 1791, p. 468. "It may be a tale of truth, for it is not unnatural, and it is a tale of real distress—Charlotte, by the artifice of a teacher, recommended to a school, from humanity rather than a conviction of her integrity, or the regularity of her former conduct, is enticed from her governess, and accompanies a young officer to America—the marriage ceremony, if not forgotten, is postponed, and Charlotte dies a martyr to the inconstancy of her lover and teacher of his friend.

The situations are artless and affecting—the description natural and pathetic; we should feel for Charlotte if such a person ever existed, who for one error, scarcely, perhaps deserved so severe a punishment. If it is a fiction, poetic justice is not, we think, properly distributed."
