VII. Subscriptions received by the Author, No. 118, Market-street, and by the chief Booksellers throughout the United States.

TO THE PUBLIC.

THE object of the proposed work, is, to present to public view a connected series of the chief events of a per od of American history, that does not yield, in importance, to any period of equal length, in the peaceful annals of any country in the world.

Desiring to excite no expectations but such as he shall endeavour to saisfy, the writer is thus early in announcing, that the body and consistence of a regular history, is not to be looked for in this work: neither his tale..ts nor his avocations allow him to hope for this. His humbler task shall be to sketch out the most prominent seatures. It shall be his study to collect and arrange the most interesting materials—to smooth the rugged path—for abler hands, who, by such means, will find their labours abridged, and their progress accelerated.

His chief view will be, to give the History of the United States as a consederated Republic. Nevertheless, notice will be taken of the most remarkable circumstances in the history of the individual States, as far as they can be collected. This information shall be classed under separate appendixes.

The Author folicits the affiftance of fuch Gentlemen as may be possessed of documents calculated to promote the execution of his plan. They shall be received with due gratitude—carefully preserved—and safely returned.
