Refreshed by such clerical intelerance, Drageism rallied so strongly on the third Stunday, that, after the seriones were ended, nothing could satisfy it, except the open and deliberate insuit of the Catholic population, who, as was their religious as well as their bivic duty, had kept away from the spenses of polemical excitement. The Orange party, being by fir the most enumerous, many of them with three-drawn insulted all the Catholics whom they encountered. They did more—they wont out of their way to seek them. A riot took place, and the unarmed and weaker Catholics were compelled to retreat. THE COURTS.

YESTERDAY'S PROCEEDINGS. Reported for The Press [

Oross-examined by Mr. Rankin—I believe there was an election held in the Second Ward.

John D. Rayne, sworn—I was a clerk in the City Commissioner's Office. This is the book prepared for the October election officers. It is a copy of the original returns of the Assessors of the Ninth division of the Second Ward.

Cross-examined by Mr. Rankin—I copied this book from the Assessor's list.

John G. Hamilton, sworn—I was a messenger in the City Commissioners' office in October last; I delivered the lists to the election officers of the various wards.

Cross-examined by Mr. Cassidy—I don't know that I delivered this particular list to the election officers of the Ninth division of the Second ward.

Robert Hancock, sworn—I am an officer of the Court to Common. Pleas; when the court was consulting in room No. 0, there were some papers before the judges; I know not what became of them; I think Mr. Byrne or Mr. Kreitzer knows where they are.

Ewrand G. Webb re-examined—I got some papers from Mr. Kreitzer knows where they are.

Ewrand G. Webb re-examined—I got often books and four lists of voters, I think.

Charles Gilpin, affirmed—I was one of the counsel comployed in the District Aturney contested case. To the best of my recollection, the list of the Ninth division of the Second ward was found in its box, and examined in court. No cross-examination.

John D. Birch, sworn—I was at the polls of the Ninth division of the Second ward was found in its box, and examined in court. No cross-examination.

John D. Birch, sworn—I was at the polls of the Ninth division of the Second ward. Whe to raw roters came up to the window, and I challenged them all. Mr. Monaghan took some papers out of his pocket, and handed in the second ward. The rest of this witness' testiments to the others as regards no proof being made of ground of not being identified as the list of the voters of the precinct.

Judge Thompson said: The question here is not if the book will make against John Marlowe, but whether it will be admitted in testimony. If it be admitted that the name of Augustic Eatto was written by Costello, one of the inspectors, it releves the Commonwealth of the difficulty of preducing any receipts from the officers for this book. I think there is sufficient testimony to primit the book to go in evidence

Mr. Rankin then addressed the jury on behalf of the defendant, and, in a very able argument, endeavored to show that there was not sufficient testimony to convict Marlows as he stood charged in the bill of indictment.

The District Attorney replied, and asked the jury to convict, as the case of the Commonwealth had been fully made out.

Judge Thompson eliminated the law in the case very lucidly.

Jury out The District Attorney for the Commonwealth; L. O. Cassidy and William B. Rankin, Esqus, for defendant.
