IMPORTANT DEBATE IN THE SENATE. An extraordinary debate began in the Senate's straordinary debate began in the Phase in the Karsis complication. The non-strong doctrine enunciated by Senators Mason. and Brown that Minnesots shall not be ad-mitted, standing as and dos at the dor of. Congress, with her Constitution fully endorsed by her people in her hands, and her two distinguished Senators at her side, till Kansas is forced to accept the Lecompton fabrica-tion, is calculated to excite an azenont in every hones mind. We do not wonder that. evidence adduced in the case JOHN'J, CRITTENDEN rebuked it in the best style of his mauly and vigorous eloquence.

JOHN CALHOUN OR HIS WAY John Cathoon, of Kanais, the inventor and the champion of the Lecompton fraud, is on his way to Washington. He ta the prince of pipe layers. He is clearly entitled to all the honors for his skill in disregarding the ballotbox, and for his success in perverting the public voice. This one man, with troops and patronage, has been able to speak against fifteen thousand freemen. He proctured his election as a delegate to the Constitutional Convention on the distinct pledge that the work of his col-leagues and himself should ge to the people i but he, forgot this, pledge as cooly as if it had never been made; and not only refused to give the people this right, but made bimself. the judge of the returns of the only two elections called by his Convention; and now he goes a conqueror to Washington, with the evidences in one hand that he has broken his solemn faith to the people, and with the proof have prevented the citizens of Baltimore from voting should welcome him at the cars. The ballot-box, sinffers of California, if any are present, should carpet the Avenue for his delicate fdot steps ; and the rioters of the capital should make the welkin ring with cheers. A few days ago, the gallant General Jo. LANE, of Oregon, war-worn and scarred in many a hard fight, received the Constitution of that new State, soon to be admitted into our family of Commonwealths, and it was covered with testimonials of popular approval.

A few days before, suother soldier, General JAMES SHIELDS, Sccompanied another Constitution, that of Minnesota-a new State, also soon to be admitted to the fireside of the Republic, under which he had been chosen a Senator, and which (like himself, marked with the wounds received in the battle field of his country) was covered with the testimonials of dealy orities in the details of her work, in the ideal, the spirit, and general mode of treatment, she bravely abandons hersolf to the inspirations of her own gonius Miss Hosmer's fame is no longer provincial, or national; she is no longer looked upon as a fair amateur, as a pretty woman playing with art; but she is already recognised in Italy and England as an artis of unquestionable genius, of whom much may be expected. All she has yet done, however admirable, can but bo looked upon as promises and prophecies for the future. She is yot under thirty, not more than twonty-seven or twonty-light years of age, and is, and always will be, an enthusiastic, yet patient and conselentious student of her art If lift and health be spared to her, what may she not necomplish, with the indomitable energy, per-severance and profound devotion with which she gives herself up to her life-work ! I love to think of the little world of beargenius, the tap of her ebisel, to awak them from the slumber and free them from the imprisoument of ages. The tender-faced Madonnas, the etherial Payches, the dimpled Loves, the Grooping Migdlenes, the bounding Bechantes, the Fawas, the Graces, the forms which four of baints and Martyre! All this white, still world of beants and heatty is, we hope, yet to be revealed by hor hand, as it existe, or as its types exist in hor afficant artist-soul. Miss Homer seems younger than her years. She is small and rather slight, yet looks vigorous and muscular. She is a bundle of healthy nerves, en-ergy, and will. She has a fine, strong head, ear-ried with infinite spirit, ind crowned with beauti-ful hair, short and curling. Hor face is delicate, fresh and piquant, but Yull of foreo and character. Her style of dreas is slightly on the masculine order, but neat and peculiarly in keeping with her profession.
