(arom Household Wo.da CHIP It is as Mr. Brown of the Stock Exchange that I am now addressing the public. I had occasion, some few months back; to go to my bankers in Saint James's street to draw the sum of afty pounds in gold, for the purpose of defraying certain household expenses. The banker—although it was during panictime—delivered it to me without a murnur. I have my hand over the pocket in which it lay. time—dolivered it to me without a murmur, I kept my hand over the pocket in which it lay, as a bird forsakes not her nest when it has eggs within it, from the very door to that of my own, on Ludgate Hill; yet when I got home it was gone. The loss itself did not affect me nearly so micel has the method of the losing. I knew where another fifty pounds was to be got without much inconvenience, but whither that fifty pounds was gone, and by what miraculous means, was indeed a question. The pocket which my hand had covered was involute and without a hole in it. It could scarcely have happened that any thief, having ripped have happened that any thief, having ripped it open, would have the courtesy, as well as the skill, to sew it up again as I came along.

The problem so worned me, took so strong a hold upon my mind, that I sent for inspector Ferret, of the detective police.

"Ferret," I said, after I had put him in presenting of the dreuinstances. "now who The problem so worried fie; took so strong.

a hold upon my mind, that I sent for Inspector Ferret, of the detective police.

"Ferret," I said, after I had put him in possession of the circuinstances, "mow; who can have got this money?"

"Tom Daddles, or else the Spider, sit," he replied coolly, and without the least hesitation; "one of those, two—certain; which of them, depends upon whether you lost the money east or west of the Bar. Tom takes all the Strand, and the Spider has Fleet street and the Hill here."

"Well, now," I said, "let me have a personal interview, Mr. Inspector, if you please, with the gentleman who has transferred this property of mine to his account." Of course, I will pass my word not to employ the arm of the law against him. Buf I very much want to know how the transfer was effected."

On the same afternoon the Inspector informed me, that Mr. Daddles was the new proprietor of the sum in questions, and that he would pay me a visit on the following morning, carly, with explanations.

Accordingly, while I was at breakfast, Mr. Daddles called. He was arithin, not ungentlemant looking young man, soberly—dressed; and laving a rather conspicuous air of modesty and diffidence.

"Will regard to the money, Mr. Brown," he said, "I saw you going westward along the Strand, with the intention of procuring specie—"

"How did you know that?" interrupted I. "You bought, sir, at a shop close to Somorest House, a saffron-colored linen bag, such as is used for carrying money, and you danged it in your hand when you came ont.

"Ass that I was!" I cried.

"Ass that I was!" I crited.

Mr. Daddles smiled forgivingly; "I never left you," he continued, "from that moment until you reached Saint James's street. When I saw yon go into the banking-house: I backed myself at two to one that I should relieve you of your money. When I saw you come out with the money in your left coat-tail, instead of lauttoned up it a breast nocket, the "odds rose Ladies' gold enamelled watches, in huntdiamonds.

"Don't say that, sir," replied my new ac-"Don't say that, sit," replied my new acquaintance, rather severely, "don't use an expression of that kind, whatever you do. You stopped at a print shop on the west side of Temple Bar, and then my last hope began to expire; for a few steps more would have taken you into the Spider's territory, and my chance would have vanished." "Why did you not cut the bottom of my pocket?" I asked, intensely interested. "Because you would have missed the weight of the coin," explained Mr. Daddles. Nothing remained for me but to try the flydodge."
"A fly, Mr. Daddles, explain yourself; I saw no fly."
"You felt it though, Mr. Brown, if you remember, upon the left check, and you took your hand out of your pocket to remove it."

"I see it all now." "That was it;" assented Mr. Thomas Dad-"I see it all now."

"That was it;" assented Mr. Thomas Daddles, in conclusion, "and a very neat thing it was, too, though I say it."

WHY, A BEAUTIFUL HEAD OF HAIR. Because it is the ornament God Aimself provided for all our race. Reader, although the rose may bloom ever so brightly in the glowing cheek, the eye be ever so sparkling, the teeth be those of pearls, if the head be bereft of its covering, or the hair be anarled and shrivelled, Aarshand dry, or worse still, if sprinkled with gray, nature will toes more than half her charms. Prof. Wood's Hair Restorative, if used two or three times a week, will restore and permanently secure to all such an ornament. Read the following and judge. The writer of the first is the ceisvosted piants, Thalberg: The writer of the first is the celebrated plansis, Thalberg:

Naw Yoax, April 19, 1858.

Dr. Wood: Dear Sir—Permit me to express to you the obligations I am under for the entire restoration of my hair to its original color; about the time of my arrival in the United States it was rapidly becoming gray, but upon the application of your "Hair Restorative?" it soon recovered its original hue. I consider your Restorative as a very wonderful invention, quite efficacious sa well as agreeable.

I am, dear sir, yours truly.

WELEN NEWSPAPER OFFICE, 1858.

PROF. O. J. WOOD: Dear Sir—Bome menth-or six weeks ago I reneived a bottle of your Hair Restorative and gave it my wife, who: concluded to try it on her hair, little thinking at the time that: it would restore the gray hair to its original color; but to her, as well as try surprise, after a few weeks trial it has performed that wonderful effect, by turning all the gray hairs to a dark brown, at the same time beautifying and thickeding the lair. I stroughy recommend the above Hestorative to all persons in want of such a change of their hair.

NEW YORK, July 25, 1887.

PROF. O. J. WOOD:—With confidence do I recommend your Hair Restorative my hair and whishers, which were almost white, have gradually grown dark; and I now feel confident that a few more applications will restore them to their natural color. It also relieved me of all dandruff and unpleasant itching, so common among persons who perpire freely.

to the proprietor that he has succeeded in compound ing a remiedy for many of the life that his fellow-mortals are subject to; and that the public appreciate it is not a question of doubt; but a Rued fact, as the demand for it has far surpassed his sangulae expectations.

READ THIS TESTIMONY OF A WORTHY OITIZEN. This is td certify my wife was in delicate health some three years, with a disease peculiar to her sex. She tried numerous remedies without deriving any benefit. Hearing of Hobensack's Iron Bitters, and knowing iron to be a powerful tonic, induced me to obtain a bottle, which proved to be the medicine she colcly required, by restoring her to health. She heattans not to recommend it to those who are similarly affected, as she believes it to be a sovereign remedy.

This invaluable Medicine is prepared only by GRORGE S. HOBENBACK.

TESTIMONIALS.

It affords me pleasure to state that Mr. J. 1. Reed is recommended by official testimonials of distinguished gentlemen in London. From personal acquaintance with him, I can most cheerfully recommend him as an accommendation, and sent many complished scholar and gentlemen to the condence of the public.

The subscriber takes great pleasure in uniting with Dr. Conyerse in the above recommendation. From personal acquaintance with Mr. Reed, as well as from his distinguished testimonials, I am confident of his eminent abilities as a gentleman and scholar.

ARANDY by

ABBRELL ORIBACTER. A light-yellowish browncolored spirit, having a fragrant cdor; when evaporated from clean; linen it left no cill or offensive matter.

Analyzed for volatile and fixed drugs, of which no traces of easy kind were found. Its color is proved to be due to a colored resin an extract derived from wood.

ILT'In every respect it is a pure spiritous liquor.

The fragrance or bouquet which it possesses can be isolated, and it then appears unlike that from Cognac Brendy or Wine, being a fruity essence resulting from a psouldar formentation of Catawba and Isabella Grapse.

GERMICAL CHARAUTER.—1. Parts in volume of this nept shifties as a gentleman and scholar.

We are happy to hear that Mr. J. J. Reed a gentleman of considerable literary attainments, and who has contributed to Graham's many excellent shethes of enument persons, has re-opened his Institute for Young Ladies, at 1523 Walnut street, one of the most admirable localities in the city. Mrs. Reed is a lady who has had many years' experience in tuition, and bears a high reputation for success in training her pulls, both morally and mentally. Mr. Reed, from his knowledge of European insuguage, and from having graduated in the first colleges in England, imparts the advantages of the best European systems of education; and particular attention is paid to the study of English Composition and Polite Literature. We would lay some stress on this latter fact, since general literary information and culture, though by far the most distinguishing signs of intelligence and refined education, are, on the whole, far more neglected in most schools and colleges than any other branches.—Relief or of Graham's Magazine for July, 1551, p. 81.

- Unparalled Success of the introduction of this Superior Coal into the Philadelphia Market!

We are daily receiving testimonials from all quarters where this Coal has been tested of its great superiority over any Lehigh Coal ever burned.

The Coal yields an exceedingly WHITE Ash, and is perfectly free from cinder of any kind, while the Coal itself is perfectly clean and entirely free from slate or any impurity.

For steam purposes it has no equal, the testimony of some of the most eminent Engineers in the country being in its favor.

We have the EXCLUSIVE control for its sale.
