We are happy to hear that Mr. J. J. Reed, a gentleman of considerable literary attainments, and who has contributed to Graham's many excellent sketches on ominest persons, has re-opened his Institute for Young Ladies, at 1523 Walmut street, one of the most admirable localities in the city. Mrs. Reed is a lady who had many years' experience in tuition, and bears a high reputation for success in training her pupils, both mornally and mentally. Mr. Reed, from his knowledge of European languages, and from having graduated in the first colleges in bugland, imparts the advantages of the beat European systems of education; and particular attention is paid to the study of English Composition and Polite Litorature. We would lay some stress on this latter fact, since general literary information and culture, though by far the most distinguishing signs of intelligence and refuned education, are, on the whole, far more neglected in most achools and colleges than any other branches.—Editor of Graham's Magazins for July, 1853, p. 81.
