Attens, seeking for "some new thing" greater than the last. As the transmission of intelli-gencein a short time seems now the order of the day, I beg leave to send you a copy of an article from Dr. Dloks' works, on the subject of Acoustic Tunnels for the transmission of sound, believing that great improvements can be made in them. especially since the discovery of gutta percha, and that we may be able some time or other to talk to John Bull across the great Atlantic ocean Ex-periments were made in Paris by M. Biot on the transmission of sound through air in very long tubes, and through solid bodies. These experi-ments were constructed as conduits for fountains to embellish the city of Paris. With regard to the velocity of sound, it was sacertained that its trans-mission was ten and a half times as quick as through the air. The pipes were over one thou-sand and thicty-nine yards in length. M. Biot was stationed at one end, and a friend at the other; they heard the lowest voice so perfectly as to hear the words and keep up a conversation on the sub-ject of the experiments. They wished to detar-ming the lowest boin at which the human voice seemed to be audible, but could not accomplish it; words spoken as low as whon we whisper a score to nother were understood, so that not to be heard there was but ons resource-that of not speaking at all. Between a question and answer the interval was not greater than for the transmis-sion of sound. The time in the experiment through one thousand and thirty-line yards was about five and a balf seconds. Reports of a ple-tol fired at one end consilored a considerable ex-plosion at the other; the air was driven out of the high a undie. Do drive light substances out of it to find stance of half a yard, and to ex-tinguish a condle.
