Suppose that the accused be a stranger, or a friendless SHEETINGS, being, how is he to get bail? His accuser, of most undoubted bad character in many cases, PATENT LEATHER, is allowed to make the charge, and, this done, walks away without the Alderman taking any step whatever to secure his attendance before the Grand Jury, in case that a bill of indictment should be sent up. The accused, unless he have bail, is committed to prison. In nine cases out of ten. the more fact of a man's being even criminally accused tells against his reputation, even though the event prove that he was wrongfully accused. But let a man be sent to prison, on a criminal charge, and though the Grand Jury throw out the bill of indictment, a Grand Jury throw out the bill of indictment, a reproach lives against him that he has been "a jail-bird." The incompetency of some of these magis-trates is glaring. They have been elected, not because they ware suited to the situation, but because they ware suited to the situation, but ples of this incompetency might be adduced. One we know. The tearies John G. Davis, in spite of the fact that he runs independent of the regular nomina-tion, will be returned by a large majority. In the Fourth district William S. Holman, anti-Lecompton Democrat, will be elected to snoced Foloy, and there is some probability that Martin M. Ray, Lecomptonite, in the Sixth, and John W. Blake, Lecomptonite, in the Sixth, and John W. Blake, Lecomptonite, in the Sixth, and John W. Blake, Lecomptonite, in the Sighth, may succeed in being elected. Both the latter gentlemen have taken position in favor of admitting Kansas with-out reference to the question of population. In fact, the only candidates for Congress who make claim to the name "Democratic" who do not occupy the same ground are Niblack and Hughes. The for-mer answers the question in this way: "I am'a De-mocrat, and support its organization and usages. This is a question which will, probably, be brought before a Democratic Congressional cancus, and I stand ready to ablde by the decision of a majority. If the caucus says admit Kansas with a less popu-lation than 93,000, I will obey its mandates." Such a man cannot be elected to represent the peoples of any portion of Indiana. They do not wish their Representatives to stand by the decrees of a caucus on a matter wherein the right of self-government is most dearly affected. B. vernment is most dearly affected.

But the effort to secure the adoption of Lecompton by Congress was only partially successful. A measure was adopted known as the English bill. It provides that a lare State may come into the Union with only 40 000 population, but that a free State must have 100 000 before she can be admitted. In the arithmetic of some this may be all fair; but to my sight, with mobdy's spectrale supon my nonso, it is anything else than an equality between the North and the South. A MANGLED NEGRO.—The Jackson (Miss.) Eagles says: On last Tnesday, when the ''dirt-cart'' on the Southern Bailroad was within about a mile south of Jackson, a negro belonging to Ho-race Barr, Eq., fell off and the cars ran over him. We never saw a human being, alive, more terribly mangled. Both legs, one arm, and his back, wero broken. One of his legs was smashed almost com-pletely off. He died about four o'clock in the evening.

cratic principles ? Those who stand by the pledges of 1866, or those who have sakadned then? Do the anti-Lecompton men spack a language different from that which they nitred a year or two ago? Cortainly not. They advocate the same principle of popular sorreniguty now that they advocated then. They have kept their covenants unbroken, and their escatcheons unitarihed. As honest men they cannot abandon that principle, and, as segnelous statemen, they would not if they could. [Applause] It has everything about it, in sympathy with our own fre-government. It scathers the despoism of i terrestion. It leaves the people of the Territorise perfective free to form and regulate their own domestic institutions in their own way, subject only to the Constitution of the United States. Who can better judge of what suits the people than theuselves? They are directly concerned in the establishment of slavery in their middt, and their voice ought to be confrolling in that matter. [Ap-plance] The principle of popular sovereignty, fellow-citzens, is a glorious platform to stand upon It is not for a day, nor is if for Kanasa alone; but it is for all the Territories, and for all time. [Applause] It appeals to our favor by its fairness and its justice. If does injustice to none, whilst its operation must cor-tring i nurs to the peece and happiness of all.
