Conwin's Lear.—At a trial recently held at Yellow Springs, Ohlo, growing out of difficulty between some of the students and faculty of Auttooh, the "Old Wagon Boy," who represented the faculty, was exhibiting to the jary a foll, or save, belonging to one of the students, which was probably used in the meloe. Tom was in his usual happy mood, and brought down the house frequently by his with illustrations of the induces of fending; new parrying imaginary thrusts and anon throwing himself fercely upon the attack. and anon inrowing nimes! Hercely, about the stack.

At last, having exhausted his full store of pleasantries, with one fell thrust, he made feint to strike one of the students, Mr. Fisher, who sat near by, and with a look of unfathomable gloom, and a voice of a Stehior, he thundered out. "And what would you do, sir, being unarmed, if I should attempt, to pletce you through?" Imagine the roar of laughter which greated the last eloquent, offort of the "old stumper," when the half-frightened student, collecting again his wits, sprang to his feet, and successfully exclaimed: "I'd not come you, sir, with bloody hands, to a hosp itable grave!"—Ohio Press. Our esteemed friend, W. L. Poalk, Esq., of Philadelphis, formerly and for several years a resident here arrived on tax Sanday. We are pleased to see Mr. Poalk, who appears to be in fine health, and enjoying himself very much among his many friends. Mr. Poalk it, on husiness for the house of Schaffer & Roberts, of Philadelphis, which house he now, represents. Hope he may be loaded down with enters before he starts home.

THE SOURVEKILL FLEET .- The grand turn out of all the Echnylkill barge clubs, in one grand fleet which was postponed last Saturday, is to come off or Saturday of this week. The Schuylkill fleet will be large one, and its formation, we think, will do much to ward reviving the dormant interest of our people. The person who is chosen commodors will be highly honored. FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL The Money Market. PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 10, 1868.
The probability is that pearly all the bills of exchange, to purchase which gold is now sent South, wi ing a substitute for the exportation of gold, cause the specie again to accumulate in the wants of the banks It is true that the dustom house, returns show slightly increased importations, but this seems to be rather as increased importations, but this seems to be rather an exceptional fact than the basis for a rule; and, altogether, the amount of foreign goods received this year into the Atlantic ports is greatly behind those of the last few years, and the falling off blds fair to continue for some time to come. Up to this time, in New York along, the import entries for the year are seventy one millions of dollars less than they were in the corresponding ten months of 1867, a falling off of one-third.

The turn of exchange against England from this cause, combined with the heavy export of cotton romises to combined with the heavy export of cotton, pron p the money market in New York exceedingly eas ropp as coming to market numberly, soon, and as year, large, while the shipments are correspondingly. Beary Freights are not high, but similefully no to make profit for ship-owners, while increased facilities are allorded for loading. One great branch of our mational industry that programments as while proace for the recommences as which proace for the second mones as well as mone for the second mones as well as the second mones as well as the second mones as well as the second for the second mones as well as the second mones are second mones as well as the second mones are second mones as well as the second mones are second mones as well as the second mones are second money as the second mones are second money as the second mone try thus recommences earning money for those engaged in it; and every other branch will be indirectly bene-fited. The cotton manufacturing of the North has not inflared so much on account of general business prosration as from the high price of cotton. But, according to Southern papers, cotton is couing so plentifully to market, that the following picture of Savannah has a very general application. It is said "Everything that has wheels is presend into service just now to han cotton," and fatill there seems no diminution of the mighty man at the depot. Cotton is all over the city, es, and still comes forward without cessation. It If his continues it will, not be unreasonable to look for considerably layer prices for corton, and consequent for considerably layer prices for corton, and consequent cattiff among the manufacturers of the contract cotton fabrics, who have been virtually debarred from hust-near by the high price of the raw material. With cotton at a price ne longer prohibitory, exchange in our favor, importations light, and money plenty, we shall witness a season of almost unoxampled activity in the coming spring, if not before.
