Anniversary of the Noonday Business Men's Prayer Meeting.

A mooting of unusual interest was held at Jayne's Hall yesterday, to engage in religious ex-ercises, with special reference to the fact of its marking the anniversary of the commencement of enday mostings for business men, in this city, on the 23d of November, one year ago, in the basement of the Union Methodist Episcopal Church, Fourth street, below Arcb. The meeting was nearly two and a half hours in duration, and was among the largest ever held in that spacious hall. At 11 o'clock, precisely, the chairman, Rev. John Chambers, opened the exercises by an nouncing the first hymn in the Union Hymn Book,

"All hail the power of Jesus' name! Let angels prostrato fall," . Which was sung with remarkable spirit by the congregation while standing.

The hymn concluded, and an earnest prayer offered by the Rev. Mr. Curtis, of the Methodist who, it was announced by the chairman, would be succeeded by the Rov. Dr. Leyburn. Dr. Brainerd, in coming forward, said that he had confidently hoped that Dr. Leyburn might precede him, as he knew that gouticman's speech would have the effect of warming him (Dr. B.) and fit him for a better speech. He felt, moreover, a very serious embarrassment in attempting to speak at that time, which he attributed to two causes: First, the meeting had been started on so high a key by the chairman that, to ascend beyond that seemed late on the chances of Presidential spirants, the the meeting had been started on so high a key by the chairman that, to ascend beyond that seemed late on the chances of Presidential aspirants, the a thing impossible; and his second cause of omore two clerk specimens of concentrated mysbarrassment was, that throughout all the connec parrassment was, that throughout all the connection he had sustained to those meetings, his con-gratulations had been so hopeful, and his expresgratulations had been so hopeful, and his expres-the departmental generate to the Executive, and slons with regard to the future so sanguine, that the boiled-eyed and weary-brained statisticians nothing on these points now remained for him to who have vexed themselves to leanness, of late, say. He also made an interesting statement respecting the difficulties against which prayer-meetings had to contend fifty years ago. At the close of these remarks, the Rev. Dr. Ley-burn, of the Old School Presbyterian Church, oame forward, and delivered a most foroible and sating the hackman has new furnished his hack, impressive address. His whole heart was with this movement. He had, some time ago, been approached by a member of his own denomination, with something like the following: "Sir, how is it? I learn that you are mingling with and lending your countenance to the religious revival. I am surprised to hear this of an Old School Presam surprisea to near this of an Old Scaool Fres-byterian." 'Sir,' said Dr. L., addressing him-self to the chairman, "if, at that moment all the earth had been resolved into a general crash about my ears, I could not have been more surprised than I was to hear such an interrogatory.'

At this point the speaker entered upon an inte resting account of his early ministry. He felt himself too much indebted to religious revivals to say aught against them. His own birth into the Kingdom had been in the course of a religious re-vival, and, during several years of his early min-istry, in the State of Alabama, it had been his fortune to see his poor services blessed, more than people of his charge.

The explanation of his position on the subject of slavery in the Territories, by Senator Douglasfor the article in the Chicago Times is taken to be, and undeniably is, his doctrine-is being subjected to the most searching criticism. It may not please those gentlemen who believe in the doc trine that, under the Dred Scott decision, slavery one be carried into States and Territories, and held there in doffance of the popular will; but it will be accepted by the masses, North and South, as the most sensible, and practical, and unanswern-ble solution of what is shown as the principle of popular sovereignty. The following is, in brief, the position of Judge Douglas, as set forth in a late number of the Chicago Times. Speaking of the Democracy of Illinois, that paper declares their position—and, per consequence, that of their in domitable leader, too—to be as follows:

domitable leader, too—to be as follows:

"They support the decision of the Supreme Court in the Dred Scott case, in the sense that it guaranties to the owners of slave property an equality with the owners of clere property in introducing it into the Territories; contending also that as slave property is thus placed on an equal footing with other property, it, like all other property, must be subject to all such local laws of the Territories as do not infringe upon the Constitution of the United States; that slave property being thus placed on an equality with other property, if it require higher and further affirmative legislation for its protection and security than is afforded to other property, and the Legislature of the Territory should decide not to discriminate in its favor to that extent, then the foliure to obtain that higher protection than is afforded to other property is a misfortune attending that description of property, for which the Democratic party have no remedy and are not responsible."
