Reimer's Gallery, Second Street, above Green.
Here art, triumphant, our attention claims;
Here life seems speaking from a hundred frames:
Men, women, children, throng the pictured walls, Each form, each face, its living type recalls;
Features, complexion, attitude, attire.
Beauty's soft smile and manhood's glance of fire, Truly reflected at a rapid rate,
To astonish life with its own duplicate.
Think not these photographs by sunlight made,
Shades though they are, will like a shadow fade;
No! when the lips of fissh in dust shall lie,
And death's gray film o'erspread the beaming eye,
Then RBIMER'S plotures, mocking at decay,
Will at the firsh and vivid as to-day.

Relived Companies and Human Life.

The legal duty of all Ralicoad Companies to adopt at once, promptly and generally, precantionary improvements of tried and undoubted value, calculated to save life and mitigate danger, needs no argument to convince a thinking man. But, unfortunately for the people and the stockholders, there are quite too many of those in authority who do not sufficiently realise their responsibility in this matter. Their thoughts are occupied about too many other things; their duties as Superintendents are clearly not; their sole throught and study. Large fortunes are accumulated in a few years from small aslaries; and the verdent masses of the community look up to our raliway officials as if they were the Great Mogul. But let us ask how many of them perform their duties with a single eye to the interests of the Stockholders, and the safety of their employees and the preclose lives that a safety of their employees and the preclose lives that a seat be provided in front of each assenger train, how long would it lie before the aforesaid officers would make the inquiry of their mechanics. Are our trains arranged to stop as soon as they possibly can be? We also have a profound conviction that they would have an earnest desire, also, to hold the reins themselves when in that position. This may be a strong case, but it is directly to the point. It is ansolute yould not the time, we trust. I should not be read to the point of the forement manupon it, of his ewn volition, the power to arrest it instantly, if required. The time, we trust.
