But they do not; they judge by the effect produced on their own. There is a needless rope, tition, too, or "judges" with "judge y" and the phrase "as mon judge," used in place of "as other men judge," leaves Mr. Southey quite out of the category of men. "The men," also, is too closely followed by "other men," in the next sentence; while "association" comes jingling too immediately with "imagination" just above. The tautological use of "what" is, moreover, unconth. The relative, singular pronoun "what," meaning "that thing which," is, by a great oversight, used as a nominative to the plural "ane;" The whole paragraph is deficient in spirit, and, with all necessary deference, I maintain that we shall improve it by withing it thus:

"To Mr. Southey, government is a fine art, of peace or war—of a theory, a religionar a public measure—he judges by the ARRIVALS AT THE PRINCIPAL HOTELS UP TO OME O'CLOCK THIS MORNING. GIRARD HOUSE-Chestant street, below Ninth we shall improve it by writing it thus:

"To. Mr. Southey, government is a fine art. Of peace or war—of a theory, a religionder a public measure—he judges by the imaginative offect, as a picture or status is settlemed by other men. To them, what a chain of reasoning is, to him is a chain of reasoning is, to him is a chain of reasoning is, to him is a chain of association; and, as to his opinions, they are nothing but his tastes."

OLD. Lettes.—There is a pleasure in reading old letters, almost as great as that of meeting and conversing with the friends by whom they were written. Old letters are the laud marks of our journey through life. They tell at what time occurred the brightest, and at what the saddeat events in our history—when we formed the friendships, which, though us in living character to the memory of those who have passed away from this world, and set before us all the amiable and endearing qualities with which they were adorned. By means of old letters, we read, in manhood, the gay and jacund chais of boyhood; and when age has laid its withering hand upon our faculties, it, still delights us to retrace; in the epistles of manhood, the scene and events which character to the memory of those way distinguished—to those who delight to call up. In distinct review the companions who started with them in life's uncertain race, and whose various fortunes they would wish to remember—to all; indeed, whose condition in life has engaged them in epistolary correspondence, whether of a triendly, literary, or mercantle enature—we would recommend the preservation of old letters. MR. BURHETT: I take pleasure in stating the wonerful effects of "Whitcomb's Remedy for the Asthma," on my wife. She has suffered for years with the Spas-modic form of that terrible disease. * * * At one modic form of that terrible disease. * * * At one time she was so far gone, that her physician could not count the pulse. * * We were obliged to open doors and windows in mid-winter, and resort to every expedient that affection could devise to keep her alive. At length I heard of "Whitcomb's Remedy,"—it acted like a charm; it enabled her to sleep quietly in a few minutes; and nearly broke up the disease. I keep it constantly on hand—and though it has not cured her it has done wonders in the way of relief I am a Methodist clayman atteined here. I shall be hard to an list clergyman, stationed here. I shall be happy to an-wer any inquiries respecting her case, and you are at iberty to make any use of the foregoing facts that will nefit the afflicted. Yours, truly, Por thirteen years I suffered with the Ashma, and during that time there were but fow months in which I did not suffer with a paroxysm that entirely prostrated me for two or three days, and sometimes longer.

I will say, that from the time I took the first does of your "Remedy" to the present hour, I have not had a had attack, and now my system is so free from it, that the most active exercise and exposure seldom has any other effect than to slightly restrict the lungs. Your medicine soon dispels that sensation, and I can safely claim a general release from the tormentor. Please accept my gratitude for the great blessitg, and believe me that I shall endeavor to introduce the Remedy whenever opportunity occurs. With great respect, your obedient servant,

Ineurance Companies. JULTON'S INSURANCE, ADJUSTING

AND COLLECTING OFFICE, No. 608 OHESTNUT STREET, PHILADELPHIA. The undersigned having been practically engaged for a number of years in different capacities of the Insurance business—for several years in adjusting losses exclusively for the Insurance Compactice—now offers his services to those sustaining Loss or Damage by Fire to properly insured in making out their proofs of such loss or damage in full compliance with the intricate and cunning conditions of Policies of Insurance, in such a manner as to obviate plea or excuse for reduction or litigation by companies so inclined, or others.

He is assisted by the, best legal counsel in Philadelphia, and will give particular attention to the Collection of Claims against Insurance Companies.

It is known by many who have sustained loss by Fire to properly issured, and it has also been the experience of the undersigned, that policies are frequently declared partially or entirely void at a certain time after a fire occurs, in consequence of carelessees or mismanagement in effecting the insurance, or for some other cause, which, although an important fact, is scarcely ever discovered or thought of, until it is too late. In order to avoid such disastrous occurrences, the undersigned will also effect Insurance in any Companies desired, and examine policies effected by others (in most cases) free of extra charge.

Parties quastining loss or damage by fire, as above, will find it to their interest to consult the undersigned as soon after the fire as pessible.
