The Money Market.

PHILADRLPHIA' January 12, 1859. The sonual report of the North Pennsylvania Bailroad Company possessed considerable interest to the public generally, who are deeply concerned in every en-Leprise of important as this to the basices interests of the city, as well as to the stock and bondholders. The North Pennsylvavia Ballroad is in itself, a first-class structure, and lis trade in largely increasing in apite of all adverse influences. With the revival of spite of all adverse innecces. With the revival or manufastures dawning upon us, and the renewed demind for coal that will result therefrom, the earnings of the North Pennsylvan's Bailroad Gempany cannot fail to base largely increased as to speedly extinguish all its floating debts, and give it the means of dividing fair profits smoog its stockholders. The local tonnage of the c mrass for the year ending ovember 80th was 66 133 tons 16 cwt : of which t0.-200 tons 10 owt. was brought through to Phildelphis, and the balance, 15,837 tons 6 cwt. was distributed on the line of the road-being an increase of 23,085 tons 2 the line of the road-being an increase on 20,000 tours wit over the tonnage of the previous year. The gross earnings of the year were $120,594, being an increase of 48,110 over the earnings of last year. The total expenses, including maintenance of wear, renewalk, and repairs, were $124,823, leaving the net earnings, $162,070. The floating do't of the company, on November 30th, the stat 218, the cush on hud. $27,135, leaving 1853, was $184,213, the cush on had, $27,135, leaving the debt, $157,078-a decrease in that item of $64,642 having been effected during the year. The following additions have been made to the per-

anent accounts :

The work for the above charges was under contract in 1857, but not completed and settled for until after the close of that year. The bunded debt has been increased $114 500 by the asue of that amount of real estate and chattel m onds, in settlements for rolling stock and claims sgainst he company.

The real estate account has decreased $6,254 by the sale of preperty originally bught to avoid excessive damages. A lot was bought to make the property at Washington and Chatham streets more available for de-pot purposes, by the exchange for it of a similar lot slonging to the company. The exchange gives the beinging to the company. The exchange gives the company the whole square of ground between Ohathras and Cherry, Second and Washington-streets, a very way luable property. The right-of-way accounts are nearly. closed, only mine accounts being yet open and un-settled.

The Quakake Bailroad, connecting the Catawina Williamsport, and Brie Railroad with the Beaver Mea-dow Baliroad, near Weatherley, has been completed and opened, but it a opening was effected so late in the season, that no definite idea as to the results of the onnection to the North Pennsylvania Railroad can be given. The coupons of the ten per cent, bouds have been paid regularly at miturity; those of the 6 per cent, bada regularly at miturity; those of the 6 per cent, bada bare been pad by instituents as fast as the company's receipts faranshed the ability. We have from time to time remarked upon the cer-tainty that the earnings of the North Pennsylvania

Raifroad Company. would prove so great as to make its bunds rank among the first class investments at no dis-tant day, and we have no hesitation in referring to the results of a notoriously bad year in railroad affairs, as shown in the above figures, in proof of the correctness of our opinion. The stock held by Allegheny County in the Pittaburg and Steuberville Rairoad Company (20,000 charce) has been used to vote out the former board of directors, and elect the f llowing :-- Wm. Phillips, John H. M'Ilheony, Zaccheus Patterson, William Perkins, John Barton, Robert Woods, Edward P. Jones, A. S. Nichol-

The number of shares of stock vot d was 14,078, of which 10,000 belonged to Allegheny county. The annual statement of the Perin Mutual Life Inst-

Kelly moved to asmend by appropriating twelve thousand dollars for the purpose of erecting two mar-ket houses on Moyamensing avenue, and these on South Eleventh street. Mr. Riley moved further to amend by appropriating two thoutand dollars for the screeting of two market houses in the Twenty-fourth ward. Bo't there amendments contemplated the use of the old materials from the Market-street slieds. Mr. Kelly advected the amendments, and prodeeded to show that the improvements on Moyamensing ave-mus and South Eleventh street would pay alarge into-rest on the investment, not only in the way of market rents, but in the trace to be derived from the increased value of real estate in that vicinity. Mr. Golon and Mr. Bowker agreed as to the pro-priety of making the improvement, but conlended that the subject rhould be introduced in a nuchter offi-naque, and not in the annual appropriation bill. Mr. Helly contend@, in answer to this, that " now was the accepted funde." The Amendmenta, after some further discursion, were findily voted down. and the bill passed as reported. Ad-journed. cumulated by her sons in employments of this character. It is true that some of the other metions of the Union, particularly onrown im-uediate vicinity, have pursued a similar perior; but there is no good reason why it should not become much more general than heretofore, and why the industry of nearly every quarter of the land should not be, to some extent at least, diversified by an intermixture of manufacturing with agricultural employments.

His shower was it could not, that we would not recognize the other route, in any was under the circumstances, that we should stand to our engagement with the Orange and Alexandri Railroad, and that I would do so though through ticket was never sold. We there ug upon Mr. Felton to make a through-teach with us to Philadelphia as well as New York, an to sell them to that from Philadelphia ou the Great Southern Mail Route, and propose to him to give his local fare over his road all of vinck propositions he decimed, nid r fused to recognize our coupons over his road unless we should make them good only ov the Ricet mond, Fredericksburg, and Potomao Hardes, again, we were rendiated. Horden The commerce of this country is in itself one of the mightiest interests that the world ever saw ; vast as our foreign commerce isextending as it does to every quarter of the globe, and either vieing with, or exceeding, unices we should make them good only over the Richmond, Fredericksburg, and Potomac Road. Here, again, we were repudiated, disoredited, denied the right of equality, and that, too, by a great line of road connecting two great cites with which we had been striving for years to get a connection, in order that we might throw the tide of Southern travel through those cities on their way to New York and Boston, by a route which could not be out off from them by competing lines, thereby giving them the first othnoge at the whole of the Southern and Southwestern trade. To be thus refused and rejected by those from whom who had expected the most sympathy, made us feel humiliated, and necessarily caused us to look to some other quarter for aid and comfort. In this condition our eyes naturally turned to New York, and we began to devise plans by which we could got ver this new difficulty which hadpresent-ed itself in the way of perfecting our through tiket. The Orange and Alexandria Road proposed to pur-chase tickets of the Baltimore, Philadelphia, and New York, and place in the bahds of the conductors, with which to take up our through tikets sold to the above named cities, without anny sense or trouble to the passengers. Mr. Jackson, the vice president of the New Sersey Railroad Company, proposed to sell the Orange and Alexandria Raima tikets from Washington West and South to Memphis and New York to Washington. In this way, we again triumphed over difficulties, and it is in this way that all the through tickets have been sold to sand from New York over the Great Southern Mail Route. that of the oldest and most wealthy nations of the earth-it is as nothing when compared with the internal commerce between section and section, State and State, town and town, which, pervades every quarter of this Union and calls into active exercise the physical and mental energies of a great army of men. its loading adjunct-the transportation interest-by its railroads, canals, steamboats, steamships, and sailing vessels, also affords a vast field for employment. The revenues of American railroads at this moment amount to much more than the revenues of the National Government, and they require for their successful management an immense number of men; and when to these are added the employees of the canals, steamboats, steamships, and sailing vessels, the field i for employment opened up is one of boundless extent.

We have said notning of the learned pro fessions-of the preachers, physicians, and lawyers required to meet the wants and minister to the moral, physical, and legal welfare of the population of this country-nor of the various branches of mechanical employments always in need of recruits for their active ranks; but surely any one who contemplates all the vast avenues of employment, presented by the ever-existing necessities of the country, can, if he possesses a reasonable modicum of common sense, coursge, and skill, select some vocation which will be congenial to his tastes and remunerative, and having selected it, by actively and energetically pursuing it, advance his own happiness and fortunes, enjoy all the comforts and many of the luxuries of life, and add to the great aggregate of the productive industry of the nation. Public Amusements.
