FUTURE EQUILITY: We stand upon common ground. The Great Leveller will knock at your, door, Sur Millionaire, as well as at mine; and we must both open to him, whether we bid him welcome with our, hearts or not. Bawl along, then, in your charlot, nor heed the poor pedestrian, who drags his blistered feet over the hard side walk. Stop not, at the imploring voice of the ragged mendicant. We are all travelling the same way, and shall ultimately streach, the, same inn—the grave. There the wicked cease from troubling, and the weary are at 1685. the weary are at rest? The weary is there not consolation in the assurance? not consolation in the assurance?

Courage, then, storm beaten journeyers over the desert of life! Toll on yet awhile smid trials and tears. The goal is at hand—your haven of rest! Does the may of this world, whe has laid up store for many years, and apoken peace to his own soul; afflict or oppress you? Forgive him! He is your fellow traveller to the land of souls—he will soon stand upon an equality with yourself. His treasures cannot bribe the Spoller. be always gazing ont vacancy. He would often when slobe; throw down his axe or hoe and clapping hig hands on his sides, burst into an almost uncontrollable; fit of laughter
Withal he was extremely poor, shittless, friendless, and generally very simple. What this being could find in his own thoughts to afford such keen amusement, was a masker of no little wonder to those who judged of him
only from his appearance and general deport ment. Buf some who had regarded him more narrowly found un him a singular original.

One day as he was, with his weak, and hobbling gait, shuffing along through the dust of a highway, a neighbor happened to meet him and thought he would crack a joke over the head of the supposed simpleton;
"Stephen" said hie "have you heard the naws?"

"News," said Stephen," what is it?"

"Why the devil's dead." Isn't that news?"

"It is, I declare! And how much I pity
you!" replied Stephen—"what a poor, fath

CHESTNUT GROVE WHISKEY.—A devise to lessen the consumption of impure spirits, knowing their injurious effects upon the constitution, has induced the offering to the public of an article which the analysation of Professor Chilton, Analytical Chemist, of New York, and Messrs. Booth, Garrett, & Camae, of Philadelphia, proves, beyond all question, to be the most pure and consequently least injurious spirits over offered the American public.

OBETIFICATE OF DR. JAB. R. OHILTON.

I have analysed a sample of Chestnut-Grove Whiskey, received from Mr. CHARLES WHARTON, Ja. of Philadelphia, and having carefully tested it, I am pleased to state that it is entirely free from poisonous or deleterious substances. It is an unusually pure and fine flavored quality of Whiskey.

JAMES B. CHILTON, M. D.,

New York, Sept. 8, 1858. Analytical Chemist.

PRILADRIPHIA Sept. 9, 1858.

DSAR SIR: We have carefully tested the sample of Chestnut-Grove Whiskey which you sent us, and find that it contains neme of the poisonous substance known [as Fusic Oil, which is the characteristic and injurious ingredient of the Whiskeys in general use.

Very respectfully,

BOOTEL, GARRETT, & CAMAG,

Analytical Chemists.
