A SCAMPERITG AMONG THE PIONFOCKETS.—

The morning papers, yesterday, announced that the new mission church, located in South street, near Twenty-second, would be dedicated and opened for Pint ion service in the afternoon, for the first time since its completion. It is presumed that the light-fingered gentry read the newspapers, or, if their literary education has been neglected, they are kept advised of the our entrements, and probably share the spoils, for they seldom fall to be present at public gatherings, which afford them an admirable opportunity for plying their trade. Detective Officer Russell keeps himself advised of all public meetings, also, and being a geotteman of experience, he visited the above locality yesterday afternoon and carefully inspected the premises Upon his arrival at the church, he found the building well filled, and the services well-night completed. He seated timeself, and as he surveyed the crowd of people wno were assembled and participating in the solemn exercises of the occasion, his keen eye soon discerned that at that moment pickpocksts were scarse within the sacred building. After waiting for a few moments, however, during which time he became deeply interested in the proceedings, he was not much surprised to ree Frank Dillon. Bill Riley, and another notorious pickpocket edging their way through the crowd, who with eager system reveals the salient points. As quick as thought Russell's eyes were upon them; their eyes met; the two started for the door, Russell after them, and in company with several sections, the hue-and-ory was raised, and about fifty citizens joined in pursuit. Biley, and very account of streets, was finally captured. Billion and his pal made across the lots for the reliroad, through sluth and mud ankledces, followed by a crowd crying "stop thief," and with a good playtering of mud, these two succeeded in making their escape, but such assumpting of pick-pockets has not been witnessed for many a day. Rilley was taken to the Eighth-ward station-bouse.
