☞ Ongle Baptists

COMPROMISE BOOKS IN THEIR SABBATH-SCHOOLS!

What is a question which we think deserves more attention than it has yet received. It is a fact that a very large number of the publications of the American Baptist Sunday-school Union have been, and still are being, introduced into Baptist Sunday-schools. In former years it was deemed to be a necessity, and it was thought better to have these publications than to be altogether without Sabbath-school books. But, happily for the Baptists, that necessity cannot now be said to exist, as we have in many schools the best Sunday-school books, while others going through the press. Will Baptists, then, continue to neutralize their efforts by introducing into their Sabbath-school books which avowedly ignore everything which is Baptistic; that is, books which do not teach a single distinctive baptist doctrine? If this right to use compromise books in our Sabbath-schools, there is no right to preach compromising doctrines from our pulpits; for many Sabbath-school scholars are just as capable of receiving and embracing the doctrines of the gospel, as others who attend on our public ministrations.

CRIPPLING OURSELVES.

The very nature of the American Sunday-school Union's constitution renders it most obvious that its books cannot be the best for a Baptist Sunday-school. We have lately examined this matter, with some degree of care, and give it as our decided conviction that Baptist schools, wherever it is practicable, to have their own Baptist schools, instead of uniting, as they now do, with what are called Union Schools; and that they ought to procure suitable books for such schools from other than publication establishments. While Baptists contribute to buy Sabbath-school libraries of the Sunday-school Union, the books prepared by their own writers, and issued by their presses, and far better suited to their own schools, are lying amidst in the various places where they have been deposited for the different cities and towns. Thus it is, that while we are building, Baptists who do not teach our doctrines, we are crippling ourselves.

IS IT NOT A SIN TO COMPROMISE?

Never can we expect to see our cause prosper and flourish as it ought, so long as we are practically ignoring some distinctive Baptist doctrines, as the Church of Christ; whether this be done in the Sabbath-school, pulpit, or elsewhere. To enforce the principles and doctrines, which we regard as Baptistic, will lead to unhappy results. As this is what we shall notice more fully hereafter, we shall in the views of one who has already proved himself to be a clear and logical writer, and sound Baptist. On the question, "Is it not a sin to compromise?" he speaks as follows:

"Baptists hold to certain great truths, which distinguish them from all other denominations. These truths they have plainly taught, and explicitly enforced in the Word of God. They are not mere matters of human opinion which men may believe as they think best. They are not mere questions of expediency which they may decide which way they please. They are said it, and it must be believed. God has commanded it, and it must be obeyed. And yet men who profess to be the followers of Christ have met in solemn council, and with deliberation and prayer, have carefully examined the Bible to contrive the ways by which these great truths may be most perfectly concealed from the Churches and from the world in books, and tracts, and sermons, and Sunday-school instruction. Let us compromise in all things, they say, we cannot all agree. Let us never mention them. Let us leave them out of our books, out of our tracts, out of our sermons, out of our system of instruction to the young. These truths are in the Bible. God has said we must not take anything from or add anything to His truth. God commands us to contend earnestly for the faith once delivered to the saints, and to withdraw ourselves from any one who walketh not according to the teachings of His Word. But these we cannot do so without divisions, for some will not heed the whole truth. We cannot do it without being accused of bigotry, for some think God's commands of very little consequence. We cannot do it without sinning among the denominations as a separate and peculiar people. Let us all unite. If they will not bell we and bleat, let us preach truth, let us practice it, and, speak only what they will, keep us teach. Thus we can work together. Thus there will be no division, for we will all alike go 'side the Word of God; and while they teach error we will hold captive for the sake of brotherly kindness and Christian union.

If this is the real foundation of the so-called Union efforts of Pedobaptists and Pedobaptists. We hold that God commands immersion. They say, if you think so in practice it, but please don't say anything about it. Adhere to your theory, and we will print books which will never mention it; give us your money, and we will build up Tract Societies and Sunday-school Unions upon a basis of compromise. We will say nothing of our doctrine, do nothing of yours. Everything which you hold, and which you think is required by the Word of God, shall be treated as though it was not in the Bible, and everything we hold, and which you think is condemned by the Bible, shall be treated as though it was never condemned or approved of. We think our way will do. It is a matter of indifference which way baptism is performed. Help us to teach, this by treating every mode as equally indicated by the Scriptures. Baptists fall into the snare, build up Pedobaptist societies and Sunday-schools, and wonder why they are not blessed of God—wonder why they have so few Sunday-schools, and so few books suitable for the instruction of the young in their peculiar doctrines.

Brethren, is there a more deliberate act of sin than wicked compliance to the public requirements of God's holy Word? Can a Baptist treat the great truth by which he is distinguished, as a Baptist, as though they were not in the Bible, or as though there were any doubt as to whether they were or not, or as though the opposing doctrines held by Pedobaptists were equally true? I cannot, I dare not; thus ignore or compromise God's truth. Does he deserve to be counted as a true and faithful witness for the truth who can?"

You who believe in training up a child in the way he should go, take the following advice given you by a Pedobaptist paper, the Christian Intelligencer:

"We do insist that any denomination which has a right to live, is bound to do what in it lies to promote its own principles, and extend its own interests."

Believing, as Baptists do, in no creed but the Bible, and that the Bible is the only rule of faith and practice, the above is worthy of all acceptation. Take control of your Sunday-schools, your tract and missionary operations, and never suffer yourselves to be drawn into any effort which tends to compromise those truths which form a part of the very foundation of the Christian system. A union of effort, formed on any other basis than a scriptural one, will not meet the approbation of Him who said, "If ye love me, keep my commandments. If any man love me he will keep my words. He that is not with me is against me; and he that gathereth not with me, scattereth abroad."—Matt. 12: 30.

"Ye are my friends if ye do whatsoever I command you."—John 15: 14.

"He that keep the ordinances as I delivered them unto you."—1 Cor. 11: 2.

"Take heed unto thyself, and unto the doctrine; continue in them; for, in doing this, thou shalt both save thyself, and them that hear thee."—1 Tim. 4: 16.

☞ Improved Telegraphic Arrangements.—HALIFAX FROM N Y GIBSONER.—BOSTON, February 23.—To George W. L. Jonnson, Telegraph Reporter, for the Philadelphia Press: The committee of merchants who have in charge the Cape Ann and Yarmouth cable project have received a letter from the Nova Scotia Telegraph Company, containing the following:

"Resolved, That this company having considered Mr. F. N. Gisborne's letter of the 7th inst., are prepared fully to abide by the agreement made by Mr. Gisborne with Mr F. O. J. Smith, in all its essential particulars, and to adhere to all the propositions made by this company in reference to the Boston and Yarmouth telegraphic line."

You can proceed at once to more thoroughly organize your arrangements for telegraphic reports for the press throughout the South and West. By the arrangement which has just been consumated between the committee of Boston merchants and the Nova Scotia Telegraph Company, after the arrival of the next steamer from Halifax, making it which has been so long held by the New York Associated Press will be shut out, and all parties will have an equal chance to get foreign news despatches after the news on the arrival of Hibernian steamers at that port.

F. N. GISBORNE.

A Deal of Talk.—PARIS.—The recent important changes which have been made in the regulations of the various telegraph lines through the British provinces give us increased facility for forwarding the News throughout the country, with EARLY and REGULAR telegraph news reports. It will be seen by the despatch from Mr Gisborne, that the Halifax monopoly ends on the 1st of May, and after that date the country will rest upon the principle of first come, first served. Other arrangements are being completed, which will soon place the newspaper press in the possession of foreign news in from five to seven days from Liverpool.

A competent agent is now in Europe, making arrangements to send by every steamer which leaves for the United States a well digested summary of political and commercial news, up to the very moment of the sailing of the steamer. No matter what port the steamer touches at in the United States, this summary of foreign news will be placed in the nearest telegraph office, and flashed over the wires to the different points in the new arrangement, and furnished to the Press in the various cities immediately after its reception.

The Press throughout the South and West, wishing to enter into the new and independent organization for furnishing telegraphic reports, will address

☞ Philadelphia, February 23, 1859.—To THE EDITOR OF THE EVENING BULLETIN.—SIR: In your paper of yesterday, (Tuesday,) the 22d inst., you publish "A Card," over the signature of "De Haven & Brother, Bankers, No. 20 South Third street," and are then pleased to make an editorial comment, (headed "Judicial outrage,") which does me great injustice.

The circumstances of the case, so far as I am concerned, are as follows:

On the afternoon of the 19th, instant, Mr. Hock De Haven was brought into my office by Detective Officers Bartholomew and Smith, on a warrant issued from the Mayor's office, directing them to bring one Hugh De Haven, and certain notes of the Bank of Pennsylvania, (which, had been stolen the night previous from the office of John Goforth, Esq.,) before me.

At the hearing of the case Mr. Goforth identified the notes in question, which the defendant refused to deliver up, or give any information that would lead to the detection of the thief who committed a midnight robbery. I allowed Mr De Haven to remain in my office nearly two hours, and detaining the notes, as in duty bound, informed him that they were in possession of the law, and that it was his duty, as a good citizen, to give all the information in his power that would lead to the arrest of the thief. This he positively refused to do, and appeared to labor under a good deal of excitement. I gave him the use of my private office while he was before me, during which period he never requested me to send for any of his friends, nor did he seem in any way to look upon my course as a "Judicial Outrage," but on the contrary, thanked me for my demeanor and forbearance with him. He finally left my office in custody of the officers. At a subsequent interview at my office, with his counsel and brother, I was assured by them I had done no more than my duty, but they complained of the course of the officers, over whom I have no control.

Having now given you the facts as connected with my office, I trust that you will do me the justice to retract your editorial comment upon my official conduct in the matter, which a regard to truth calls for.

Yours, respectfully,

JAS. B. FRENEMAN,
1t Alderman Sixth ward.

For sale by them, and presenting attractions and advantages to the trade generally, and from all parts, such as are to be met with in very few places. Their extensive stores on Chambers street, which they occupy entire, enable them to appropriate to each class of goods a separate department, and to have, in fact, so many distinct stocks in their warerooms, each of which will be complete. Without specifying the articles embraced, they would name the departments, viz.:

DRESS GOODS,
SILKS,
WHITE GOODS AND LINENS,
CLOTHS AND CASSIMERES,
FLANNELS,
SHAWLS AND MANTILLAS,
HOSIERY AND GLOVES,
YANKEE NOTIONS,
