THE WASHINGTON TRAGEDY.

[SPECIAL DESPATOR TO THE PRESS.] Warnington, Feb. 28, 1869.

There are many rumors in circulation in relation to the late melancholy affair between Hop. Daniel E. SICKLES and PRILIP BERTON KEY. Many of these state ments are unfounded, and most of the details are even meants are unfounded, and most of the details are exag-gerated. I have been able to glean the following, as a full an i reliable account of the matters connected with this fearful traged? this fearful tragedy: Last Thursday evening Mr. Rioking received a bundl

Mr. Wooddrides undertook the mission, and vision the neighborhood indicated in the anonymous missive, to see whether such a house had been let last summer, and under what diroursatances the lesse hulbeen granted. and Webster are laid in their graves. Their cotemporaries are prepared to meet the summons of the dread destroyor. Who shall take their places?
Who shall rise up to guide and counsel the country. I am no Gussandra; I have full faith in the perpetuity of this Government; but there can be no doubt that the time is at hand and rapidly appropobling when the country needs the aid of all its patriotic and distinguished some. Corruption, like a slow polson, is circulating through the vains and arteries of the Republic; but, happily, the people are no longer indifferent. Their oyes are being daily opened to the enormities practised here, and with the indignation and inquiry now pervading all parts of the Union, I cannot but, hope that a thorough reform will be inaugurated, such as will restore the Government to its original purity and receall our rulers to a sense of their

Our city has been plunged into deep gloom by the sad tragedy which occurred on yesterday atter nom. It is the all-abrorburg topic of conversation in all circles, and while deep regret is expressed for the untimely death of Mr. Key, who had many devoted friends, as aften long train of circumstances connected with the case became known, the course purisoned by Mr. Sickles is regargied as a natural and insolvable one.

10% oclock P. M.—About ist hours have now been spect in the discussion of the Post Office appropriation bill and its amissiments. The debate has been undestration though much confusion provailed through out the proceedings.

An additional section from the committee was adopted, instructing the Postmaster General to report, at the commencement of the next session of Congress, what post-routes have not paid one-half of their cost.
