In Virginia, the Gubernatorial contest is unusually animated. Unfaltering as her ad. herence to the Democratic party, in all great political contests heretofore, has proved, the Opposition, without being at all sanguine, evidently suppose that there is sufficient chance for success to stimulate them to extraordinary efforts. Their candidate, WILLIAM L. Goggin, is stumping the entire State; their papers are filled with declamatory articles, and we have never known them to exhibit as much determination and zeal as in this contest. They conduct the canvass on general grounds of antagonism to the National Administration, and the extravagance of its exrecord of the Democratic nominee, John Letoner, while he was in Congress, as well as his endorsement, some ten or twelve years ago, of the Ru ffin pamphlet, one of the strongest and ablest arguments in favor of the abolition of slavery in Virginia that have ever appeared. Mr. LETCHER has had cratic party in 1800 upon a national and honorable several attacks of illness since the campaign commenced, but he is evidently determined there are probably some voters who will be influenced by his connection with that document. In the outset of the campaign he clearly saw, in consequence of the difficulties by which he was surrounded, that it would be repudiated a number of the leading acts of the National Administration, and he therefore publicly declared his disapproval of its policy in regard to Cuba, the Pacific Railroad, and he will be successful, as the Democracy of Virginia appear to be making strenuous efforts

Its productions command comparatively good prices, and the tone of the agricultural intelligence received from different quarters of the country, in regard to the growing crops, is, in the main, highly favor-

The indications of a war in Europe ar also susceptible of an interpretation favorable to the prosperity of this country. Botts, you will recol-lect, slept with Mr. President Tyler, and arranged things, as he supposed, to the satisfaction of both; but the result proved that Mr. Botts, like a good many others, was mistaken in his man. The Pre-sident is very thoroughly determined; however, that there shall be no difference between him and Mr. Robert Tyler. On the contrary, the course adopted by the Constitution, in regard to the slave code in the Territories, will be very eld quently insisted upon in the present canvass in Pennsylvania by the chairman of the Administration State Central Committee; and the sojour at the White House will not be without its conse quences. Rumor has it that Mr. Robert Tyler was an earnest candidate for the mission to Mexico and that he felt his disappointment greatly, espe cially when his successful competitor was Mr McLane, who had always been Mr. Buchanan' opponent; hence the necessity for soothing his wounded feelings by some such hospitality as that so graciously extended to him by the President.

The Democrats of Maine will elect their four delegates at large, to the Charleston Convention, on the 20th June next. This is beginning early. The Administration has employed its custom-house officers, and post-office agents, and all the mean and appliances to boot, in order to secure the elec tion of its creatures from this State. Whether they will be successful remains to be seen. My own opinion is, however, that quite a contest will take place; and certain it is, that if public opinion is permitted to control the choice of these delegates, no one will be elected who has any sympathy what tration. It is seldom, we apprehend, that a lacture board entertainment, is like marrie for such thing as the 29th of April, attracts as flatforing an audi ence in overy respect as that which greeted the Rev. Henry Ward Beecher, at the Academy of Music, last evening, to hear his lecture on "The Burdens of Society." The house was almost endown as one of the most signal successes of the

The first burden of society referred to was that of bad government. He need not step to argue the necessity of law and government; we all knew, however, that bad tovernments, instead of being a strength and support to society, were notically so burdensome that the most the prople could do was to bear up under them, with scarcely strength to do anything else. He knew that anarchy was usually regarded as one of the worth of ovils. He thought there was another thing quite as bad, and that was government. The evils lies, already united by common principles and like in the street of the worth of the interest of the countries, at also by the hope which the constitutional Government as well as the people of Mexico, theretain for the most ratifying, of my duties, in the act of presenting myself to your Excellency in my official charicater, is to sisting even ment of my own country; the desire by which I am actuated, of contributing, to the extent of my shilly, it development of the interest of be hocountries, at also by the hope which the official that make the same time, the sentiments of the dorsulational Government. The third burden of which he spoke was the burden of War. Under this head the destructive element of man's nature, in all its exhibitions sports, and following it up to what he was pleased to describe as the infernal insanity of war. In this respect the world could not be said to have progressed materially. Never, during the same period of time, had more armed men trod the earth than during the past ten years. YESTERDAY'S PROCEEDINGS Beported for The Press. THE CHESTNUT AND WALNUT STREET BAILROAD-COMMON PLEAS.—In Equity —Judge Ludlow getsrday mouning delivered the following epinion: Mitcheson vs. Harlan and others. Ogmon Pleas. In Equity. Motion for a special injunction This bill is fied against the defendants, commissioners named in is filed against the defendants, onmouse oners named in an act of Assen bly, entitled 'An act to incorporate the Philatelphia City Passenger Railway Cempany'. The bill sets forth the fact that the commissioners preceded to the discharge of their duties, according to the terms of the set of Assembly, by virtue of which they assumed to act, and then canges that the complainant was prevented from subsorbing to the stock of the c mpuny by reason of the fraudulent set of the commissioners, who had compired to defrand the complainant and the public, first, by selecting an office for receiving the subscriptions located in au unusual place, inaccessible and unruited to the proper performance of the duties of the commissioners, and secondly, by stationing upon the stairmay and entrances leading to the office an organized band of men; so as totally to preclude the access of the public to the tool seconally, by stationing upon the stairway and entrances leading to the office an organized band of most, as stotally to preclude the access of the public to the room until the whole of the access of the public to the room until the whole of the stock of the company had been subscribed for. The bill then prays the court to declare the subscriptions already made the fruidelent and void, and to direct the commissioners to make and receive new subscriptions, in such manner and place as the court may direct.

The bill further prays for the interference of the court by ripunction, and that the defendants may be restrained from making application to the Governor of the Commonwealth for letters pratual, and from holding an election for directors, or from further proceedings with the organization of the company, either as commissioners or corporation, or as subscribers to or holders of the stock.

The very grave questions thus presented for our consideration will require us to review the various acts of Assembly incorporating the railway company, to investigate the wells of the cause Areriew of the legislation which he brought this company inte existence will exhibit a history as interesting as it is extraordinary.

The original act of incorporation passed the Benate and Hours of Representatives upon the same day, to with the 28d of March last; the Governor disapproved of the sact, and returned it to the House, in which it originated, with his objections.

Upon the 25th of March last; the Governor disapproved of the sect, and returned it to the House, in which it originated, with his objections.

March, the bill having been sent to the Senate, also passed that hedy by a similar vote, and thus became a law of the State.

The act contains many sections not unlike those in other acts incorpo ating railway companies; but it entirely omits an important section, or clause of a section, which has been inserted in other acts, and which provides "That before the railway company shall commence to use the said streets, the consent of the Councils of the city of Philade phia shall be first obtained."

There is an important fact developed by the testimony in this cause, of which we must take judicial notice, to wit the actual existence of a corporation, created by the letters patent, insued by the Governor of the state. In the name and by the authority of the Commonwealth; and it matters not in our view whether these letters that the name and by the Executive before or after the bill was filed in this case for the bill as filed makes the cormissioners a love desendant; and as the Governor has not been made, a party to this bill, seven if, the legal right to do so exis ed.) the process of this court could not in any contingency present the issuing of the letters patent.

A corporation, therefore, in fact, exists and nules.

A corporation, therefore, in fact exists, and unless we possess the power to declare the act of the fovernor null and void, and thus destroy the corporation, we cannot great the present motion. What, then, was the nature and extent of the power delegated to the Governor under and by virus of which the letters patent have been lisued? The act of 1850, known as the general railroad law, directs that the Governor of the Commonwealth shall grant letters patent have been compiled with. This act is not unlike former and extent of the power delegated to when the commissioners certify that certain provisions of that law have, been compiled with. This act is not unlike others devolving upon the Executive similar powers. As an illustration, we may refer to the general banking law, which confers upon the Executive of the Government has devolved upon the Executive officer of the Government has devolved upon the Executive officer of the Government, is to execute them simply as a misisterial efficer, and can exercise no discretion in the premiser? This principle can hardly be mislatined; for, be it observed, the Government, and to develop the commonwealth is as much bound. By his oats of the Commonwealth is as much bound, by his oats of the Commonwealth is as much bound. By his oats of the Commonwealth is as much bound, by his oats of the Commonwealth is as much bound. By his oats of the Commonwealth is as much bound, by his oats of the Commonwealth is as much bound. By his oats of the Commonwealth is as much bound, by his oats of the Commonwealth is as much bound. By his oats of the Commonwealth is as much the grossest fraud might with impurity be perpendent of the Commonwealth with impurity be perpendent of the Government, and to independent branches of the Government, and to devy to him the right to exercise a sound discretive the fact of the Government, and to independent branches of the Governme
