NOTIONS. We cannot remember to have been more gratified and interested than we were in the perusal of the manu-script of this volume several months ago IL is quite as delightfal as "Mastermen Resdy, 'or "SWiss Fami-ly Robinson." and we do not koow but we may throw in "Robinson Cruvee." Not the least merit of the book is. that it teaches something useful upon almost every page, and breathes throughout a spirit of cheer-ful and winning pisty.-The Schoolfellor. The little volume has already reached the seventh thousand, and perbaps has been read with more uni-versal admination than any work which has passed great master piece.
