Will the Liberal Irish members again support Lord John? Here is what Mr. Bowxen, the re-elected member for Dundalk, and Cardinal Wiseman's personal friend, said on the hustings to his

> "After being declared duly elected, Mr. Bowyer, in a very lengthened speech, vindicated his general Parliamentary conduct, and narticularly his vote in favor of the Government Reform Bill. He stated that the Roman Catholess received more justice from the Derby Administration than the Whige over conferred during their whole tenure of office. He denounced Lord John Russell as the invoterate enemy of the Roman Catholist, referred to the memorable Durham letter, and the Ecclenisation! Titles! > This is plain speaking, and it is likely that every Catholic in Parliament was opposed to Lord John, on the same grounds. If so, Lord DERBY's majority of Irish members, already considerable, will be greatly augmented. Mr. BRIGHT, perhaps, may have a good time, by and by. He is an advanced liberal, and may be able to carry out his main ylews,

Mr. GLADSTONE, with most of the old Peelites, is much disposed to act with the Derby Ministry, and it would not surprise any one, acquainted with the history of belligerent parties and their living leaders, to flud Mr. GLADSTONE very soon forming one of the Derby Cabinet. He is too independent a gentleman to play second fiddle to Russell or PAL-MERSTON. If Mr. DISBABLI would accept that splendid exile, the Viceroyalty of British India which is said to await his acceptance-Mr. GLADSTONE Would probably take his place, s Chancellor of the Exchequer and Ministerial Leader of the House of Commons. But, It may be that DISEARLI has dreams of even traduce Westcott, but to offer the expendiyet higher ambition than India opens to himthat he may aspire, in fulness of time, to the Premiership itself, even as CANNING did. impudence and plausibility, not to be placed inpon record. He said;

"Now, something is said about change of opinion. The last half century has been the period of my active life. Within that period all has changed around me. I have seen the face of nature changed. I have seen morarese cenvorted into dry ground. I have seen morarese cenvorted into dry ground. I have seen desert wastes in this country now teening with golden harvests. I have seen grass supplenting beatier, and runcing up to the tops of our highest hills. I have seen night turned into day in our cities and dwellings by the aid of gas. I have seen time and distance all but annihitated by the locomotive power of steam by sea and land. I have seen the electric telegraph conveying from pole to pole the intercourse of men, by a spark stolen as it were from Heaven. I have seen mighty monarchies fall; I have seen republics founded on their ruins brimbling to dust. I have seen despot to tyrannies arise and fall. And shall man, frail an, amid all these changes of nature and of policy, alene stand immovable, unattered in his opinions, and say he is urchanged? Is he to refuse to yield to the pressure of the times and of the olroumstances in which his lot cast, if he is not open to conviction? I, frail in my judgment, but honest in my purpose, have changed many opinions; but to say that a man dealing with State affairs is not to change his opinions under any olroumstances—that may be a recommendation for a lunatic asylum, it is not a recommendation for any deliberative assembly in the world."

This is unmistakably plain, and would almost warrant the suspicion that the weather-cock must wait and see. A Striking Prediction-The Union of France and Sardinia against Austria. M. DE PRADT, in his work on the Congres, of Vienna, published in 1816, deployed the disposition made of Italy by the Holy Alliance, and virtually predicted the occurrences which have since transpired, as a natural consequence of the character of the people of Italy, the intrigues of Austria, and the position of France. Bis theory was, that a confederation of Italian States should have been established, by which the whole country would have been freed of foreign dominion. Benefit. BY MIDNIGHT MAIL.

Letter from "Occasional," the Territory of Utah This is a large office, the duties of which are to be conducted at a great disance; and, to a person of Colonel Stambaugh's elegant tastes, rather more acceptable for the embroidery than for the cloak. Banishment is, in fact, the order of the day with Mr. Buchanan as against his old friends. But Mr. Buchanan's idea of bauishment is canable of another signification. He hanishes his best friends from his confidence, how-ever near they are to him. Even his own houseold are held at arm's length, and those most sincerely attached to bim are frozen into silence by he Arctic atmosphere which surrounds him. The only way to obtain an introduction to his confirates him from the public and his friends.

Mr. Buchanan is by no means satisfied with the condition of things in Philadelphia. Having resalved to remove the postmaster, he does not hesitate to intimate that there are others no less for a long time deliberated upon making more changes; and this may be the time for decapitations. The person most active in the movement against Mr. Westcott, turns out to be Mr. Robert Tyler, who, for some cause, drew his sword upon the postmaster directly after his appointment, and who, from that time to the present, has waged unceasing war upon him. All the accuns against Westcott are contemptible in the extreme, and the President now sees that he has placed himself in the indefensible attitude of the gratification of the spleen of others, and has given that officer a most desirable opportunity of in future years. But neither Mr. Compan nor fully vindicating himself before the public. I do not know how far Collector Baker is mixed up in this affair, but I do know that, if he had interposed to prevent the execution of Tyler's plans, and had ac'ed with such men as Mr. Brenner. Col. Patterson, and Mr. Vandyke, the District Attorney, al those plans would have been frustrated.

While, however, to Mr. Tyler belongs the chief honor of having assailed Mr. Westcott, I must not forget that distinguished "ex North American," and "ex-member o the Senate of Miohigan," and author of an essay on "Chancery Practice," namely, Vincent L. Bradford, E.q. This pious patriot has been industriously at work writing to men in high places here, advocating the removal Union" in danger of dissolution unless this thing is done at once; and as "a Christian gentleman" and patriot, has felt it to be his duty, not only to ture of the whole of the salary of the office, should he get it, for political purposes, he being rich

DISTRICT COURT.—Judge Sharswood.— Chas.

A Rubleam Assignee of the Faimers and Mechanics'

Wood, Bacon. & Co., vs. The Delaware Mutual Life Lacurance Company, garai-hees of Galdwell & Spencer, Bame vs. The Western Insurance Company, garnishees of Galdwell & Spencer. There is a case were actions to recover money alleged to be in the hands of the garnishees to satisfy judgments held against the defendants. On trial The Paraguay question bids fair to become un-pleasantly complicated again. No sconer is the American fleet out of the country, with the Bowlin treaty allowing "Americans to enter freely into Paraguay," subjected to the same rights and privilegos that the natives possess, than the President of Paraguay issues a decree enacting that in future he intention to reside in it more or less time, withaccredit the lawfulness of his arrival in the police office, as also the means of subsistence by some useful cocupation which he may bring with him; or, if he pleases, his fitness to place himself in the vious advice to the police, without which requisite he shall not be admitted. The justices of the neace are also enjoined to watch every reunion in every house in their district, and to form lists of all natives and foreigners who have no visible ocstanding treation, ALL POREIGNERS, and leave every element of production, or consumption, or navigation, in the exclusive hands of the univer. sally monopolizing merchant President.

A PLEA FOR PARDON.—In the ante-rooms A PLEA FOR PARDON.—In the ante-rooms of the Executive Chamber, at various times for several years past, has been seen a nearly dressed Irlehwoman, who, with unswerving patter och has endeavored to obtain from the Executive the parton of her son. It spacess that this son, under the name of James Weston, which, however, is not his real designation, brows, into two buildings in the night time, and thengthe obtained only about seventy five cental worth of plunder, he was sentenced to seven years in the State Prison. He has served out six and a half years of his sentence, cohaving all the time in a correct manner, observing the rules of the prison, and has never been punished for disobedience. His mother asks of the Council a release of the remaining hair year, and we hope her prayer will be granted.—Boston Traveller.
