But the success (for, however partial, it is a success) of the Opposition in Virginia, and the consequent necessity of laying down some national' of platform when the general Opposition come toether in National Convention, is by no means a pleasant fact for a Democrat to contemplate.

Funeral Ceremonies of Rev. John C. Baker, D. D.

As was expected, the funeral ceremonies of Rev. JOHN C. BARBE, pastor of St. Luke's Lutheran Church, of this city, prior to the removal of the body to Lancaster for interment, proved very solemn and interesting. They took place at the oburch, Fourth street, above Girard avenue, yesterday morning. The capacious church was filled by a sorrowing assembly. Among the clergymen present were the venerated Father Keller, Dr. Damme, Dr. Mann, Wenzel, Schaeffer, Baer, Hutter, Conrad, Titus, Vogelbuch, Seiss, &c. We noticed, also, Rev. Dr. Pohlman, of Albany, and

Rev. Senderling, of Troy.

At precisely nine o'clock, the body, laid out in silver-mounted coffin, was brought into the church, and placed, uncovered, in front of the pulpit. Rev. Keller announced the apprepriate hymn, commencing with the words: "How sweet the scene where Christians die," &c., which was sung, accompanied by the music of the organ, to a most solemn tune, by the choir and congregation, Rev. Dr. Pohlman, of Albany, then read the Lutheran liturgical burial service. This concluded, Rev. E. W. HUTTER, of St. Matthew's Church of this city, under the appointment of St. Luke's Church Council, in an impressive an i solemn manner, deliveredan appropriate funeral discourse, which we will publish to morrow.

It sppars he left his home on that day with a companion, who, on Funday morning, stated that he left him fishing at the above place, and after two days spent in sea-ching for the child, and the final discovery of the fishing-line, it was very easy to conceive that the oblid had been drowned. Measures were promptly taken to recover the body, grappling from being used and a cumon fired several times in order to reise the body, but without arall. This occupied several hours, and in the mannime Mr. Frailey, the telegraphic operator at the Frankford station-house, telegraphed to the Gentral attain too make ir quiry concerning the missing child. The inquiry resulted in the discovery that the boy was where he had been since the day of disappearance. The argument which they put into the mouth of the Mayor to prove that the city ought not to buy itself. The argument which they put mo to buy the hall, or, in other words, to prove that the ought not to be sent out of the building they professed to have sold, has proved much more than they intended. It has shown the Attorney General of the United States that the building is not worth the sum the Gorbitant surface, be for it. The argument is the same for i
