The excitement among the "birelings of the overnment," as Amon Kendali courteous designated his clerks, many years ago, is at its height at the custom house in this city, is being known that Mr. J. B. Guthrie, the special agen of the Treasury Department, has forwarded to hi Ohief, at Washington, a list of some two hundred lorks whose services are to be dispensed with or the first proximo-a frightful "slaughter of the innocents.". Notwithstanding the frantic pretest those who anticipate being made a head shorte in this public-sconomy movement of the retund head of the Treasury, there is substantial reason to believe that it can be effected without any de triment to the public interests or to the imponve-nience of there having business at the custom house. There are scores of men drawing pay from the Government, who do nothing of any scound
