End of the Italian War.

In a few days we shall have particulars of the Treaty of Peace between the Emperor of Austria and the Emperor of France...

In the first place, two facts must be remembered; that France proposed an armistice...

As regards the armistice, there are various statements; that Prussia suggested it; that England suggested it; that Napoleon suggested it...

Without wasting time in regrets or blame, we must admit that Napoleon's campaign was a great success, he accomplished a great deal...

Harper's Magazine for August has reached us from two quarters—Liverpool & Petersburgh. It opens with an illustrated article, called The Gravel of the East...

We presume that not alone the City of Venice, but that part of Austrian Italy, constituting rather more than half of Venetian Italy, will be included in the proposed confederation...

From the moment of the coup d'Etat, in 1851, and even earlier, Louis Napoleon, as he is called, was in the hands of the people...

This description, Mr. Dodge, of Iowa, of the champion of the Democratic party in Iowa, and late Minister at the court of Madrid...

It is in the report of the decision of Judge Johnson, in the case of the Pennsylvania, that we find the most interesting...

Letter from "Occasionalist."

WASHINGTON, July 25, 1859. The Telegraph announced that on Saturday and Sunday, the extraordinary meeting of the National Convention of the Democratic party...

It is only necessary to hint at the idea of the Democratic party of the United States nominating a candidate for President in April—three or four months before the election...
