Hollidaysburg is not within twenty miles of the L. H. and T. R., and has no interest whistever in the road or the Contral Bank; which is lecated there. "Messra: Hasbrouck, Davis, and George T. M.
Davis; solisitors of the first, second, and third mortgage bondholders of the Chicago, Alton, and St. Lonis road, have arrived in Springfield. It is inderstood that the committees representing the above three branches of the oreditors of the road, have succeeded in reconciling their conflicting interests, and the bondholders now appear, by their solicitors, as a united body, prepared to receive the 193d according to the terms lately agreed upon by correspondence with ex-Governor Maticson. If good faith has been abserved, (which there seems to be no reason to doubt,) the solicitors will be followed by the different committees representing the three classes of bondholders, and a contract for the delivery of the road into the hands of the latter will at once be exceuted. It is understood that, by the terms of this contract ample provision will be made for the payment of the wages now due to the operatives, (one fourth of said anm to be advanced on faking possession,) as well as for making the much needed repairs upon the road. A few days will probably suffice to develop the result of this scheme."
