The royal mail steamship Persia, Captain Jud-kins, from Liverpool 3d instant, arrived at New York about 3 o'clock on Monday morning. She brought two hundred and thirty-two passengers. On the 5th instant, at 10 o'clock P. M., she broke the crank-pin of the port engine, and laid to until the 7th, at 9.45 P. M., under canyas, and proshe could repair; but finding no improvement in the weather, it was decided to but back for Cork. After proceeding in that direction about a hundred miles weather moderated, and breakage repaired, when the steamer was put about again. When reaching the steamer was put about again. Extensive arrangements had been made for a grand procession, but the inclemency of the weather rendered it impracticable, and the addresses of the day were delivered in the Music Hall. The effort of Mr. EVERETT on this occasion was characterized by his usual bility, and will long be remembered as a brilliant tribute to the immortal statesman whom it eulogised. The sketch of the life and character of Mr. WEBSTER embraced in it, while necessarily brief, must forcibly impress every reader with the great pains that eminent man took in early life to fit himself for the public duties which devolved upon him. In a fragment of a diary kept while he was still a law-student, he casually states that he then read Vattel through for the third time. By devoting to other branches of political

By devoting to other branches of political knowledge as close attention as he thus evidently bestowed upon the Law of Nations, he was enabled at the very outset of his Congressional career, to rank among the first states men of the country, and to proudly maintain his position through his whole future life.

It is a crying evil of our times, that we have entirely too many men eagerly clamoring for office, and too few successful politicals who possess knowledge and genius enough to adom't the positions which their talents for intrigue enable them to obtain. In many, it which too many of our aspiring men are almost exclusively devoted, to the utter neglect of the higher and more useful task of qualifying themselves for a faithful and intelligent discharge of their political duties. Indeed, it may almost be said to be an accepted axiom, that "the true qualification for an office (no matter how excited its character) is the ability to obtain it," and hine-tenths of the political aspirants of the day for all, offices, great and small, would find it difficult to justify their ambition on any other principle. The speck f war which has arisen on our northeastern oundary is caused by another hog, which animal owed allegiance to the Hudson's Bay Company, but made havor among the potators of an American squatter in the island of San Juan." The squatter shot the hog, and resisted an order for his arrest and transfer to the town of Victoria, for trial. This caused a threatened withdrawal of the protection which had been afforded to the merican settlers by the Hudson's Bay Company, from Indian hostility and depredations. I'nce, an appeal was made by the settlers to Gen. Harney for protection, in compliance with which he sent Captain Pickett and two skeleton companies to the lace. Wilmington, Delaware, September 11, 1899.

Masses. Evans & Watson, Philadelphia.

Gentlemen: The Salamander Fire-Proof Safe, of your manufacture, purchased by us from your agents, Perris & Garrett, of our city, some nine months ago, was severely tred by burglarshant Saturday night, and although they had a sledge-hammer, cold-chisels, drill, and run-powder, they did not succeed in opening the safe. The lock being one of "Hall's patent powder-proof," they could not get the powder intoit, but drilled a hole in the lower panel and forced in a large charge, which was ignited, and although the door inside and out showed the explosion not to have been a small one, it was not forced open. We suppose the, were the greater part of the night at work on it. We are much gratified at the result of the attempt to enter it, and if the above facts are of any service, you are at liberty to use them.

Yours, truly.

Gentleman: It affords me great pleasure to say to you that the Salamander Safe, which I purchased of you in February, 1838, proved to be what you recommended it—a sare protection from fire. My storeshouse, together with several others, was burned to the ground in March last. The safe fell through into the cellar, and was exposed to intense heat for six or eight hours, and when it was taken from the ruins and opened, all its contents were found to be in a perfect style, the books and the papers not being injured any whatever. I can cheerfully recommend your safes to the community, believing, as I do, that they age as more fire-proof as it is rossible for any safe to be made.
