They was such a wide-spread fegling of indigential in the United States, and particularly among the Democracy of the Northwest, in 1846, when it was discovered that after all its loud clamor in flavor of the line of 54 degrees 40 minutes, and the complete demonstration of our "cloar and unquestionable title" of that line by Mr. Buchanan, then Secretary of States, that the country will be disposed to wise with very great displeasure any further surrendered forteriorial passessation, to the the country will be disposed to vice with very great displeasure any further surrendered forteriorial passessation, on our Northwest-orn. The Administration has determined to renew the war upon Judge Douglas in its most offensive form.

Every office-holder suspected of the elightest leaning towards the Hilinois statesman is to be instanting the Hon. James J. Faran, present postmaster of Clineinnati, and one of the proprietors of the Clineinnati, and one of the most influential in the Northwest. You will recollect Mr. Faran at Cincinnati in 1856, as an enthusiastic friend of Mr. Buchanan. Ho was at that time the Mayor of the city of Cincinnati, having served in Congress as a Democratic Representative from the same State, and sustained then, as now, the highest character. He is not the editor of the Enquirer, and is, therefore, hardly responsible for the opinions of that paper, but the fact that he is connected with it has sealed his doom. Occasional.

THE STORM, now prevailing, will prove as de-trinctivate property, we foar, as the one of last week. The wind is not as high as it was then, but the rain is more continuous. For some time last evening there was a perfect torrent of rain, and while we go to press it is still falling. There is no immediate prospect of fair weather, though in such matters we for not know what an hour may bring forth. Along the banks of the schuidkill, and particularly near Manayunk a freshet was considered immunent.— Yestesday afternoon, luring the storm that provided, two men, named James during the storm that provailed, two mon, named James Shenin and Francis Strong, went over the Schuylkin and and were drowned. Shenin was captain of a coal bond, on which Strong was engaged. The bond was very bond; injured, and ill efforts to save them were fatue.
