John Deveney vs. Arthur Hagan. An action on a promissor note. No defence. Verdict for the plaintiff to the control of the probable result enters quite largely into the conversation indulged in by members of the bar, in the court-rooms, preparatory to the commencement of judicial proceedings. So far as we can learn the prevailing opinion among the attorneys in reference to the engrossing subject, it seems to be simost generally conceded that it is seemed to the subject, it seems to be simost generally conceded that it is seemed to the subject, it seems to be simost generally conceded that it is seemed to the subject, it seems to be simost generally conceded that it is seemed to the subject, it seems to be simost generally conceded that it is seemed to the subject, it seems to be simost generally conceded that it is seemed to the subject, it seems to be simost generally conceded that it is seemed to the seemed to the seemed to seem the secures the greatest number of votes. Our legal opinion is something like that shadowed in Hague's Horoscope—an invaluable reference—that the winning candidate "shall and must" be elected. Our young friend William Vogdes, Jr., has removed his law office to No. 133 South Sixth street.

The trial of John Sweeney, and Parks, in the charge of the seems of the seem of the seems of the seem of the seems of the from Kentucky, and reports that Mr. Casey, of the United States Treasury, is improving in The Portland (Maine) Transcript states that the fine poem in the Atlantic Monthly for Octo-ber, entitled "The Artist-Prisoner," attributed to John G. Whittier, was written by Paul Akers, the distinguished sculptor of Portland Father Taylor, for the first time since his protracted illness, preached last Sunday afternoon at the Bethel Church, Boston.

Henry Ward Beecher inaugurated the lecture season last Monday evening in Providence, R. I., by an address before the Young Men's Christian Mr. Butler, the author of " Nothing to Wear," is said to have written a story, more or less of the French school, which is about to be published in GENERAL NEWS.

THE WINAMS STEAMER.—The improvements upon the original design of the Winams steamer have been completed, and we learn that it is the intention of her builders, Messys. Ross & Thomas Winams, to make the long-contemplated trial trip outside of her sative waters. Norfolk will be the first destination of the vessel, and she will probably, start for that port to-day or tomorrow. The visit of the vessel to New York and other ports will be governed by circumstances. It has been suggested to her builders and owners to take the nondescript vessel to Portland. Me., on the arrival of the Great Eastern there. That port would, in the event of such a determination, be the receptacle of two of the greatest wonders of the marine world. The original length of the Winams' steamer was 185 feet, but it being demenstrated by ground trials that a greater length insured an increase of speed, several additions have been made, and the length of the vessel now is 235 feet from point to point. The vessel is now coaling preparatory to her voyage, with 200 tons of the best Cumberland coal.—Bultmore Sun, Oct. 4.

The Mastodon Agan.—A few days since, berland coal.—Baltimore Sun, Oct. 4.

THE MASTODON AGAIN.—A few days since, while a gang of men were at work digging marl in Ellenville, Ulster county, New York, they struck upon an immense tusk of a maskedon, which when removed and measured proved to be eleven feet in length and twenty-four inches in circumference at the largest end. A portion of bone supposed to be a part of a small rib was also found, and appeared to be about five feet long. The owner of the land where these remains were extunued is still excavating to obtain the remainder of the skeleton, and is sanguine of success. A skeleton of an animal of the same apparent's poeties' was exhumed about a year since from the same location, and was conveyed to Europe and exhibited, and subsequently disposed of for $3,000. A VALUABLE PAINTING INCURED.—The Cathelic church on Tommy's Books, Rozbury, Mass.
is undergoing renovation and enlargement, and one day last week a painting of the "Descent from the Cross." valued at $600, was taken from its petition and laid upon the tops of the pews. Suddenly the whole ceiling gave way, tearing down the gas fixtures and chandeliers, and covering the picture with platter, so as to greatly injure it.

A FRIGHTFUL MURDER is reported from Cleveland, Onto. A blacksmith of Dover township, suspecting an illicit intimacy between his wife and a boarder, a carpenter by trade, murdered the latter as he slopt in bed, using an axe as the instrument of destruction? He then instituted that his wife should help him to remove the bleeding corpse from the house, which he laid besides a fence. fence.

Ar the St. Louis Fair a man named Saas accepted a banter to fight with fists, and passed for that purpose out of sight of his friends, but almost instantly acresmed, and running across the road fell dead, when it was found he had been stabbed by a three-cornered dirk which entered the neck and passed downward six inches. DURING THE REIGNS OF EDWARD SIXTH AND ELIZABETH. BY SAMUEL HOPKINS.

The Puritans have at last found a historian adequate for his work. Mr. Hopkins unites thoroughness of search to a style of singular fascination; and his dramatic narrative and life-like portraitures of the preachers, courtiers, and popular leaders of one of the innestrring periods of English history will secure a multistirring periods of English history win secure a mon-tude of admiring readers. The book has all the charm of a romance, while developing with great clearness and force the origin and growth of Puritanism.

"It will be a most valuable as it is a needed, addition to the history of the great Puritan movement in England, which is so vitally connected with the religious and eivil his ory of our own country. No work on the subject brings out so faithfully the causes and bearings of these great events; and they are depicted in such lucid and graph order as to interest readers of all classes."—IENRY B. TORE PROOF OF THE WONDERFUL

PHILABELPHIA, September 7th, 1859.

This is to certify that I was ledd for many years, and was recommended to try your Reparator; and heaving procured three bottles, used it for three months, which has caused my hair to grow, and although not quite as thick as before, yet it is constantly growing.

No. 39 North Third street.
