CARRYL & Co.'s. -- Attracted by a very bulliant display of Silver-plated Yare, of ex-quients finish and unique design, in passing the exten-sive house-furnishing establishment of Mearrs. E. W. Carryl & Co., No. 714 Chestnut street, we entered the store more from curiosity to see than any desire to bury, and from what we save we have no hositation in asying that, as a representative house, in this branch of trade, it is at one an ornament to the street and credit to our oity. Being devoted to both the wholesale and retail thranches, and keeping, as they do, one of the largest and from what we save have no hositation in asying that, as a representative house, in this branch of trade, it is at one an ornament to the street and credit to our oity. Being devoted to both the wholesale and retail thranches, and keeping, as they do, one of the largest and most varied stocks to be found any where, the an-nual operations of Measre. E. W. C. & Co. are very ex-tensive, as they are also standily increasing. Three specialities of this house in scalar, where we have no factor whill the in this house is really a curtosity to all who admire the perfections of this class of artisanahip. Some idea of their variety in these goods may be gleaned from their having trays and waiters of this heautiful ware ranging in proces from one dime torthirty dollars per set, in which are sembraced every conceivable style and design that taste could desire or ingenuity execute. These goods we learn were made in Wolverhampton and Birmmgham, England, expressly to the order of this firm. Some of the more expensive waiters are traly manificent, being ormamented with fine gold gilt, bur-nished, and embellished with handsome oil-plantings richly ensamelled. The new method of making flowers by the introduction of various shades of gold is a won-derful achievernement of sri. Their new stries whiters with blated handles and bright metalish borders, which are executed in every shade of coloring, are also a no-volty. Nor must we lea WASHINGTON, October 14, 1859. admit it. The presents by the way, was it not gilding refined gold to make prosents to the wife of a man worth five million dollars?-the presents are described very fully. Jenkins notes down every thing with the minute exactness of an auctioneer's catalogue. We are told that "Messirs. C. V. HAUGHWOUT & Co. presented a beautiful pair of Parlan marble vases, inlaid with gold; Messrs. BALL, BLACK, & Co., and TIFFANY & Co., presented a silver bouquet-holder, or flower-yase; Mr. JOHN N. is the best in the world, and the counterfelts the GENIN, a satisfue dox for the dressing-table; embroldered with gold." Considering that the bridegroom had purchased largely from their respective shops, they showed no small degree of tact in thus making a show of liberality to an excellent customer-the best they have had for a long time, no doubt. Lastly, Mrs. JAMES GONDON BENNETT Prented a pair of "delicious bouquets." Happy
