This is the capital of our Republic. It is situated in a slave region. It may, in many respects, be called sacred ground. It is ombalmed with the name of Washington. Citizens of every State in the Union come here during the sessions of Congress as children of the same family cluster around the same fireside. It is, in theory and in fact, the common property of the people. Every American who visits Washington, feels, the moment he puts his foot upon Pennsylvania avonue, that he is at home. He looks upon the public buildings as, in some respects, his own. He visits the President and the heads of depart-ments with a feeling that, while they are entitied to his fullest respect, hey are, in some non-sure, his servants. Wherever he may go he sees memorials and mementoes of the spirit that animated our fathers in the Revolution, before there were any factions such as now vaist. All

In their report upon the subject, they say that they are desirous of having such buildings or cected as will not be shamed by the splendid private structures in the same neighborhood. They then refer patticularly to the elegant Brown Stone Clothing Hall of Rockhil & Wilson, Nos. 603 and 603 Chestaut street, above Sixth, and to the comfort, dura-bility, and beakty of the garments for gentlemen and youths that are sold there. Clark has made in Silver's Gas consuming Parlor Stoves are being appreciated by the public, which the cold weather of the last few days has fully demonstrated. In passing his warehouse resterday, at No. 1008 Market st., the scene presented was and of husi-ness (if. The oharacter of those improvements we have already spoken of, but would again remind the people that, as fuel-saving articles, the stoves referred to are already spoken of, but would again remind the people that, as fuel-savins articles, the sloves referred to are really a unarvel. The perfect consumption of gas, and the unusual amount of radiating surface attained in them, accounts for this valuable and economical qua-lity, and we would actain recommend purchasers to give Clark's stock their attention before buying. His assort-ment of all other kinds of Stoves is also very ex-culant. SUDDEN DEATH.—On Thursday night, Mr. Samuel coltol, wellknown as the propriotor of a hotel at Vine-rest winr, upon the Schuykkil, feil dead at his ansates.
