It is scarcely fair, though inevitable, to com- pare an author with himself, and not with others. If ever it be allowable, however, it is in the case of TUACKERAY, who is so peculiar a writer—who is completely sui generis . Such a work as "The Virginians" no other man could have written. He has contributed largely to the entertainment of the reading public, and, at any rate, this book is not infe- rior to any preceding production. The sins of a man's youth rise up against him in his maturer years, and thus THACERAY's hastily- written magazine and Punch papers are ar- rayed against him in men's minds. Many of them are too familiar, if not even vulgar, and many who have been disgusted, while they langhed, with the bad spelling of "Jeames" and "Yellowplush" can scarcely believe that THACKERAY has written as good English, and it as clevated and graceful a style as any man now living. There was something not only absurd, but unnatural, in making James Plush, the footman, misspell his own name into "Jeames." Not so did SNOLLETT, who in- vented the style, make his Winifred Jenkins write. "There is some little inconsistency in the treatment of WARHINGTON by Mr. THACKERAY. We do not now allude to the commencement	had together, both before and after Braddock's; and that preity duel you were near having when we were boys. Ho laughed about it, and said henever saw a man look more wicked and more bent on kill- ing than you did 'And to do Sir Georgo justice, I think he has bated me ever since,' says the Chief. 'Ah' he added, 'Bo pen enemy I can face readily enough. 'The the secret foe who causes the doubt and anguish! We have sat with more than one at my table to-day to whom I am obliged to show a face of civility, whose hands I must take when they are offered, though I know they are stabbling my reputation, and are cager to pull me down from my place. You spoke but lately of being humilistich because a junior was sot over you in command. What humilistion is yours compared to hine, who have to play the faree of welcome to these traitors; who have to beer the neglect of Congress, and see men who have to beer the neglect of Congress, and see men who have to beer the neglect of the secred cause in which we are en- gaged we have to endur the shifts and duarger, but calumny and wrong, and may God give us strength to do our duty? And then the General showed me the papers regarding the affatr of that fellow Conway, whom Congress promoted in spite of the our duty? And then the General showed and the spons regarding the affatr of that fellow Conway, whom Congress promoted in spite of the our duty? And then the General showed and the cale take the takethell has atory, and lown whose black throat John Cadwalador sout the best ball he ever fired in his life. " 'And it was here,' said Hal, concluding his story, 'as I looked at the Chief talking at hight far the silence of the camp, and remembered how lone- ly he was; what an awful responsibility he carried; how spices and traitors were caling out of his difa, and an enemy lay in front of him who might at any time overpower him, that I thought, 'Sure this is the greatest man now in the world; and what a wretch I am to think of my jealousies and annoy- ances, while ho is walking seronely u	in good condition-good house, barn, and theres. The 'Frazer Farm,'' in Little Creck Neck, five inites from Dover, containing about 230 acres, was taken by the ethest heir at the valuation of $15,000, who has since been offered $16,000, or more, for it. The land is in good condition; buildings valued at $2,800. The improvement in the mode of farming and in the farms, in this county, is equal, if not beyond that of any county in the Union, and the price of land has gone up according; . Several of your elitizanc have bought farms here. and are impreving them finely. Our wheat crop this year averages nearly twonly bashels to the acres, and our corn will probably average forty bushels. Some fields of wheat yielded thirty bushels to the acre, and some of corn will reach fixty. Wheat is selling at $1.25 to $1.50 per bushel. IFrom the Cmounant Daily Commercial of the 19th.] The President of the Union, and the or read Col. Porney's paper, we are informed, and cares mothing what is said of him in its columns. There is abundant proof that this is not so. Mr. Bucha- nan cortainly takes pains to know what his old drived has to say of him. Not long after the anti- Lecoupton outbreak, the President stopped his paper, but did not, we beliave, pay the printer. Recordly the telegraph informed us that the Presi- dent was about to us Forney for libel, because he (F) inquired whether the arch-traitor to Demo- cratio principles (Mr. Buchanan) could asy that his hands were froe from the heart's blood of Sonator Broderick. Noxt we heard that no such libel suit was thought of. The President was not even an- moyed. The Washington Constitution of Statur day evening last, however, contains an article on the death of Broderick, which shows one venelly the shot of Forney struck in the White House eir- les of the orderick, which shows one venelly the shot of Forney struck in the White House eir- les of the converted the curicle of James (V. there	the object and duration of the expedition. It is said that three new regiments of Zonavas are to be created for the expedition to China. Volantary enlistment, it is thought, will go far towards compoung them, but draughts will go far towards compound them, but draughts will go far towards composing them, but draughts will go far towards conveyed thence to the line. It is further that a portion of the French troops intended for China will embark at Marseilles for Egypt, and be conveyed thence to their destination in British transports. A special corps d'armée of 15,000 men will soon be formed to serve as an expedition to China. This corps is to be directed to Egypt, there to await our steamers to convey it on to China. The Meditorranean Extension Telegraph Company have received an official communication from pany have received an official communication from the Yrench and Neapolitan Governments that the regulation recently in force not to take messages through Italy to Maita, except in the French and Italian languages, is abrogated. The effect of this alteration will be that messager can be forwarded from England to Maita, and ever ereand, through Italy in English. As regards commanisations intended for places in Italy itelf, the old regulation remains in force. The bridge over the Rhine at Cologne was inangurated on the 3d int. with great ceremony, in the presence of the Frince of Prussia.
