But if this retrospect teaches a certain lesson to the Republicans, it also presents some grave admonitions to the Democrats. Who shall be the Democrats to the Democrats. Who shall be the Democratic candidate with any chance of success at the polls next year? This is the great question. Who is strong enough to win as the Democracy had defeated the office.

holders at the primary elections—and so they had; but to-day it appears that the office-holders have secured one-half of the delegates to the State Convention, and are, in consequence, in great glee. Some twenty-five hundred men, lected delegates. Hundreds of Democrats who tried to vote at the primary elections were ejected. Thousands did not vote at all. Delegates to the district conventions were either openly purchased, or secretly controlled, and the creatures of the office-holders will again leliberately misrepresent the people. So we go ! Having taken no part in this farce, though anxious to assist those who labored to give expression to the popular will in favor of STEPHER A. Margaret Johnston was put on trial upon two bills of indictment, charging her with passing counterfeit $2 notes, purporting to have been issued by the Central Bank, of the State of New Jersey, on Leonard Saunders and Robert Taylor. The note passed on Robert Taylor was dated June 25th, 1855, at Hightstown, and was No. 2,016. The prosecution failed to identify the note passed on Leonard Saunders, and the District Attorney asked an acquittal of the jury upon that bill. The jury convicted her upon the other bill. It appeared, during the trial, that a man named Arnold was linguisted in the circulation of these counterfeit bills, and on the application of District Attorney Mann, he was sheld in $700 bail to answer at court. This proceeding, redden and unexpected as it was, reflects credit on the prosecuting officer of the Commonwealth. Poor, unfortunate creatures, who are domans, Eq., New York.
