DICK AND HIS PRIEND FIDUS. By C. M. Trowbridge. Iduatrated, IS mo. 45 cents.

This is a capital story for boys; we have not read a better one for some time. Fidus is a mysterious friend of Dick, who, though unseen, whispers in his ear a deal of good advice at very critical moments. Dick always comes out right and safe when he obeys Fuds, but has a sail experience at other times.—Congregational Herald.

125-16. PARSONS ON MARITIME LAW; PARSONS ON MARITIME LAW; including therein the Law of Shipping, the Law of Insurance, and the Law and Practice of Admiralty. By Hen. Theophillus Parsons, LL. D., Dane Professor of Law in Harvard University. In two vols., 8vo. Price 311.
The publishers of this work offer it to the profession, in the belief that it will supply an actual and an important want. The Law of Shipping, the Law of Marine Insurance, and the Law and Practice of Admiralty, are here considered, not as independent and isolated topics, as they are in the treaties now in use, but as branches from one stem, which is Maritime Law. The first Book contains the Law of Shipping; the second, the Law of Marine Insurance; the third, the Law of Admiralty; and the fourth, the Practice of Admiralty; the second third, and fourth Books being contained in the second volume. It is confidently hoped that the student and the practising lawyer will find that these volumes present all the questions suggested by either of these topics, illustrated with all the light derivable from an exhaustive investigation of the authorities of this councity, of England, and, to some extent, of Continental Europe; while the leading cases are so fully stated, and all the authorities so cited and arranged, as to facilitate any further inquiry. Prepared by Dr. C. M. JACKSON & CO., 418 ARCH Street, and for sale by Druggists and dealers generally Price 75 cents per bottle. se24-tf n24-16t

W., and a portion of the fleet have left the Roadstead, Yours, &c., W. M. HICKMAN. The kreat lamb of Mr. Chotyr, as an advocate, gives an interest to all his habits of thought, expression, and labor.

PARKER, in his introduction, says:

"At the close of the studies of college and the Dane Law School, he (Mr. Choays) took me note his office, and from that, time on I saw him almost daily till the close of his life.

"How fassinating and endearing he was in youth. I need not say, and for that reason, no less than his magnetic and marvellous eloquence, I observed and studied him every day of my hife for ten years. During those years, many an afternoon and far into the night, I have listened to his conversation, not less fascinated than instructed. And to deepen the impression of his thoughts and suggestions, they were always committed to paper. "The New York Times says:

"He thus knew him well and appreciated him fully, Without attempting a biography, he has given us what is even more interesting—memograde of his life, records of his conversations, notes of his logal arguments, with traits of his personal character and intellectual habits in great abundance, and with evident suthernicity and accuracy.

It is an exceedingly interesting work, and will be largely read by all who have accurred, either from personal knowledge or the personal contractor. "We have not space at present to pursue our notice of this book, We shall, it possible, reour to it, for it abounds in most interesting and instructive matter. Mr. Faisch has performed his difficult task with excel-BLACK AND PURPLE VALENCIAS,
