QUARTER SESSIONS—Judge Allison.—The trial of John S. Jackson, proprietor of the Sunday Transcript, for the publication of a libel on Dr. R. K. Smith, ex-chief resident physician of the Blockley Almshouse, was concluded yesterday by the rendition of a verdict of guilty. The charge of Judge Allison was directly and strongly against the defendant. The defence offered to prove the bad character of Dr. Smith, but this was objected to and the court sustained the objection. During the trial the court-room was crowded to its utmost capacity by interested spectators, among whom the "abolished Board of Buzzards" were prominent. The court adjourned without passing sentence. We learn that a motion for a new trial and in arrest of judgment will be made. In the meautime, Mr. Jackson is held to bail.

John Bloomer was acquitted on a charge of assault and battery on Charles H. Baker.
