age, to must with a defence of the practice of duelpublished at Aflanta, Georgia. That paper says:

"We do not regard it as any great honor to fight a duel, send or accept a challenge, simply for the notoriety in the matter, but we do look upon any man as disgraced who refuses to send or accept a challenge after he has placed himself in a position that requires it, according to the recognized usage amongst gentlemen. We know of no instance where the fighting of a duel injured any man, but there are innumerable cases where the refusal to meet the demands of gentlemen has set the send of infamy upon men. It was not the law that did this, but e-lightened nublic opinion.

"Public opinion is law amongst and with all intelligent and cultivated classes; public opinion has telerated and endured duelling. It has even been endorsed by God himself. The first duel that we read of was between David, the Israelite, and Goliath, the Publistine. Golisth challenged, David accepted, and the ruddy boy slow the giant. David afterwards become King of Israel, and one of the most distinguished statesmen of his tribe and genoration.

"We hold further, that no gentleman will offer an ublished at Atlanta, Georgia. That paper says:

WOMAN'S HEROISM.

At one point when a rope had been fixed to a projecting timber, a call was made to the crowd to take held and pull with a will, but for a few minutes, such was the danger of the attempt—for the beam in falling might engulph all near it—for a few minutes, we say, the call was unbeeded. Men shuddered and drew back—they would risk much to aid those below, but life was sweet, and the danger great. At this critical juncture, a woman rushed from smong the crowd, and daring the spectators to follow, seized the rope and attempted to mount the pile of smouldering ruins to clear away with her hands. The example was enough; not a word was said, but strong hands at once drew her back, and then there was no lack of hands to the rope, the beam was drawn out, and, at least, two sufferers releaved from the opening thus made.

Besides there thus saved, a large number of operatives, mostly males, who were in the weaving room, which it in the lower story, managed to escape by crawling up from that room through a couple of low windows which were not obstructed. The weaving room was partially saved by a heavy stone floor if the story above, and many in this department were thus saved.

HOW THER WERE BROUGHY OUT—BORRID SIGHES

HOW THEY WERE BROUGHT OUT—BORRID SIGHTS.

The sights and reenes at this period of the disaster were frightful. One poor girl, alive and fully corecious, was dragged from the east end of the fallen mass, with her left arm torn from the scaket and hor body and legs awfully mangled. She was taken by her friends, but could not have survived long. In one place the bodies of three girls were for all locked in each other's arms, but quite dead They could not be removed without mangling the bodies, and, being abandoned for a time, the flames broke out before another attempt was made, and all three perished.

One Irishman was taken out quite unhurt, and his first act was to feel in his pocket, from whence he drew forth a sooty "dudhdeen," and seizing a brand from the fire, he lit his pipe, and went on his way. 10W THEY WERE BROUGHT OFT-BORRID SIGHIS his way.

Next from the ruins we saw the dead body of n lad, and following him was borne a girl with one of her ankles burnt to a criep. She had been confined by one foot between two beama, and only by the utmost exertion was she recovered. She was also the beam and the state of the same and the same an

WOUNDED—IGONIZING SPECTACLE.

Immediately after the dreadful occurrence, the City Hall was thrown open, by order of the Mayor, as a hospital for the wounded, and a receptacle for the dead. At 7 o'clock this merning the stairways were thronged by a multitude of people, overy one ap-parently in an agonizing state of suspense to ascer-tain whether a father, husband, wife, or child, had tain whether a steer, hossian, when yo could, and been immolated in the awial funeral pyre.

It was a struggle for our reporter to obtain an entrance to the ma'n hall, but by the file of the dity officials he finally succeeded; and the sight was fearful. Strotched on mattresses around the entrance to the main hall, but by the cid of the city officials he finally succeeded; and the sight was fearful. Strotched on mattresses around the hall were men, women, and children, all more or less injured—some dreadfully mangled.

On the right of the entrance, in a small antercom, were stretched the corpses of thirty-six persons of both sexes, old and young. The bodies were so close together that it was difficult to pass between without treading upon a mangled limb. Feet were crushed—shoulders, arms, legs, bodies, all terribly gashed and mashed—feece so displayed that it would be difficult for the most intimate friends to recognies the bodies by the commandate friends to recognite the bodies by the commandate friends to recognite the bodies by the commandate friends to recognite th a frantic mother rushed past the door, and recognising the dead and mangled body of a child in the midst of the mars, clasped it, called it by enfearing names, and wept—as mothers weep at such dreadful moments. Our recorder altimpted to pursue bis task, and probably his sense of duty would have correctione his eases of commiseration, had not a crowd at the same juncture entered and utterly precluded the possibility of his pursuing his task at that time. The officer in attendance were kind and indulgent to all who sought for their dead; and a number of bodies, the names of whom were unknown even to the coroner, were conveyed in the residences of their friends. Coroner Lamb had not completed the list of the dead already recovered at the time we close this portion of cur reversed at the time we close this portion of cur re-

Passing from this shocking speciacle, we are placed under the guidance of Alderman White, who exhibits to us, stretched on a mattress to the right, the form of Mary Ann Coleman, sged 15, dauguter of William Coleman. The Pemberton Mill was erecited seven ventage, by a corporation which bore the title of the "Pemberton Mill Company." Its original cost was about $500 000. After the pair of 1857 it risked into the hands of Messrs. David Nevirs and George 1852 it. thows, who purchased it for the sum of $200 and and have since conducted its operations. The loss, which, including the building, and its ecsily mandale. which, including the building, and its restly manufacture, will probably exceed half a milliant its building, will probably exceed half a milliant its lar, falls upon these gentlemen. It is unlicated at these was no tisurspace on the property.

The "Pembarton!" was one of the newest milling to the city of Lawrence, and but car other, the Pacific." exceeded it in size. To say that it was constructed upon approved principles, or that the additional proprietors was based upon a liberal estimate, would be toutter a manifest aby audity, in view of the terrible calamity of Tuesday. The simple truth of the matter is, that the will have been regarded as exceedingly unsafe form alloral estimate, would be to utter a manifest abundity, in view of the terrible calamity of Itosaday. The simple truth of the matter is, the treatill has been regarded as exceedingly unsafe from the day it was built. Competent archiver's and mechanics in Lawrence, familiar with the construction of mills during long series of years have repeatedly expressed the option that the "P.m. herton" was the worst among all the great manifesturing establishments which arring so rapidly into existence in that flourishing city. That then forebodings of danger were int too well founded, we have now most melanchely proof. The architect employed by the Cd Pemberton Mill Company to superintend the construction of the building was one Capt. Biglow, formerly a righent of Lawrence, but now superivendent of the Government works at New Fedford. Capt. Biglow as brother of one of the justices of the Supremo Government works at New Fedford. Capt. Brelow as a brother of one of the justices of the Source of Court of Messsohissetts, a too-in-law of ex-Governor Briggs, and—partly, perhaps, in consequence of his social position, as well as from his required kill in engineering—was regarded as a council of the first important works in Lawrence. Proviously to the construction of the Pembarton Mill, he had been important works in Lawrence. Proviously to the construction of the Pembarton Mill, he had been important works in the wine a mishapon that he will say in the capture of the beautiful of the first in routifying the blooder.

The Captain's next public appearance was in the wanding of architect of the Pembarton Mill. The work proceeded until the outer walls had been housy-combed with windows, unsupported by an insecure. The walls had been housy-combed with windows, unsupported by an insecure of wall, until the immores: ermined to brace the bulgirg walls with place of from and several thousands of these mechanic sprinness were accordingly introduce, a rain's shion appeared the most portions. The mid was then completed. An immense weight of machinery was put upon each floor of the building. Some seven hundred looms were run a year vines, and others had been recently added; the vice of eate hurden being greater than common protections is a decent regard for the safety of a thought for eof the work upon the "Pemberter" The apprehensions of disaster, freely expressed by the reerly of Lawrence when the fallen building was constructed, led to severe reflections upon the company, not less than upon the architect. It is highly probable that that community will demand and obtain a thorough investigation of the care, with a view of firing the responsibility of this catastrophe upon the party or parties to whom it legitimately belongs.
