The Weekly Press.

MACANLEY, FEBRUARY 8, 1860. We find it stated, in the Illustrated News of the World, that Lord Macanley had possessed of property estimated at £200,000.

Four hundred thousand dollars is a very large sum for any man of letters to possess. In Macanley's case, if it were all owned by him, it would be a wonderfully large amount, for a volume of poems, a volume of essays, and a volume of history make the sum total of what he has produced, as a writer, not more than £200,000.

Immediately after he was called to the bar, in 1829, he was appointed Commissioner of Bankruptcy, and he held that office until 1831, when he was re-appointed to the same office, and he held it until 1834, when he was again appointed to the same office, and he held it until 1837, when he was again appointed to the same office, and he held it until 1840, when he was again appointed to the same office, and he held it until 1843, when he was again appointed to the same office, and he held it until 1846, when he was again appointed to the same office, and he held it until 1849, when he was again appointed to the same office, and he held it until 1852, when he was again appointed to the same office, and he held it until 1855, when he was again appointed to the same office, and he held it until 1858, when he was again appointed to the same office, and he held it until 1860, when he was again appointed to the same office, and he held it until 1863, when he was again appointed to the same office, and he held it until 1866, when he was again appointed to the same office, and he held it until 1869, when he was again appointed to the same office, and he held it until 1872, when he was again appointed to the same office, and he held it until 1875, when he was again appointed to the same office, and he held it until 1878, when he was again appointed to the same office, and he held it until 1881, when he was again appointed to the same office, and he held it until 1884, when he was again appointed to the same office, and he held it until 1887, when he was again appointed to the same office, and he held it until 1890, when he was again appointed to the same office, and he held it until 1893, when he was again appointed to the same office, and he held it until 1896, when he was again appointed to the same office, and he held it until 1899, when he was again appointed to the same office, and he held it until 1902, when he was again appointed to the same office, and he held it until 1905, when he was again appointed to the same office, and he held it until 1908, when he was again appointed to the same office, and he held it until 1911, when he was again appointed to the same office, and he held it until 1914, when he was again appointed to the same office, and he held it until 1917, when he was again appointed to the same office, and he held it until 1920, when he was again appointed to the same office, and he held it until 1923, when he was again appointed to the same office, and he held it until 1926, when he was again appointed to the same office, and he held it until 1929, when he was again appointed to the same office, and he held it until 1932, when he was again appointed to the same office, and he held it until 1935, when he was again appointed to the same office, and he held it until 1938, when he was again appointed to the same office, and he held it until 1941, when he was again appointed to the same office, and he held it until 1944, when he was again appointed to the same office, and he held it until 1947, when he was again appointed to the same office, and he held it until 1950, when he was again appointed to the same office, and he held it until 1953, when he was again appointed to the same office, and he held it until 1956, when he was again appointed to the same office, and he held it until 1959, when he was again appointed to
