GENERAL NEWS. .Cursous Will Cass Some time near 1835, Lavi Jenninge left the community of Shakers in Union village, Warren county, Ohio, and came to this county and sattled near Emwood. His wife mained behind with the Shakers, and Jennings k another wife:

Henry county, where he went largely into sheep raising.

Jannings frequently visited this city on business, and ddring one of his excursions here, was thrown from his wagou, and so severely injured that his life was despaired of. While lying at the house of one of our citisens he made his will, which was witnessed by James Armstrong and Emith Frye.

Mr. Jannings recovered, however, and lived until last November, when he died at his residence in East Clambridge. The will exit! Transland with M.

ded, declares that the English are "a very moderately taxed people," when compared with their fathers and grandfathers, and also when compared with their fathers and grandfathers, and also when compared with the inhabitants of France and the United States.

The expenditure of Great Britain and Ireland, general and local, this year, will be $450,500,000. That of France—which includes local as well as general outlay—is $354,800,000, or almost a fourth less. The population of France is estimated at thirty-six millions, so that the taxes paid by every man, woman, and chilld in France is under $10 a year, while in England it exceeds $16 a head.

As regards the taxation, general and local, of the United States, the utmest exaggeration of the Edinburgh Review does not swell it up to more than nineteen and ten pence, or less than five dollars, per head. The reviewer, convelled to admit this, says: "Per head."

Instationer, when he died at his residence may very with a very very head. As resurd problem, when he died at his residence may real very very head. The water a very water likes till remained with Mr. Armstrong.

The will affect the woman who was living with Jennings at the time of his death, came to Perial is search of the will, and endeavored to get it into ber possession. The wi of the Edinburgh Review does not swell it up to more than nineteen and ten pence, or less than five dollars, per head. The reviewer, compelled to admit this, says: "Per head, then, we are decidedly more lightly." The interest on the National Debt of England is $146,000,000 a-year, but this, says the Reviewer, is not part of the current expenditure of the country, and should not be taken into account when a comparison as to taxation in different countries is to be made. Yet, every man, woman, and child in the United Kinglom actually pays five dollars a-year to defray the interest of the Debt! Is it to be said that this is no burden? I slit, inching for a nation to be saddled, for ever, with an annity of $350,000,000 on account of old debts? The accuracy of the Edinburgh Review may be judged from its positive statement of the United States, that "they have no debt, no paupers, no army, and no navy to provide for."

The English are constantly complaining of the warlike preparations of France. At the same time, what is John Bull's own expenditure on that account? In the year 1830, when the Duke of 'Wellington, a soldier, was Prime Minister of England, the military defences are estimated at £15,800,000 for the Army and Militia, and £13,900,000 for the Army and Militia, and £13,900,000 for the Narny. £6,809,006; Ordinanes military and naval purposes in 1830. In thirty years, John Bull's warlike preparations the revenue in England, in France, and in this country. This were to than doubled in cost.

In one point the Edinburgh Review happens to be right. That is where he contrasts the expense of collecting the national revenue in England, in France, and in this country. This transverse are deal more than doubled in cost.

In one point the Edinburgh Review happens to be right. That is where he contrasts the expense of collecting the national revenue in England, in France, and in this country. This is nearly seven per cent. in the United States, to about five per cent. in England. The excess in America is caused by the abuse of official patronage, which is exercised less to serve the country than the revenue-collectors.

But examine the matter as we may, one result always is evident—that taxation is $5 per head in the United States; $10 in France; and $15 in Great Britain and Iroland. Facts are stubborn things, and in the face of these, the Edinburgh Review argues that the British are "a very moderately taxed people," and that their National Debt is a mere bagatelle!

Railroad and Telegraph between the Atlantic States and California.

The bill introduced on the 6th inst., by Senator Wigfall, of Taxas, in the Senate of the United States, "To establish a communication, by railroad and telegraph, between the Atlantic States and California, and for other purposes," provides nost ilberally for the construction of two railroads and telegraph, between the Territories of the United States, by a loan of two millions of dollars for every one hundred miles of railroad, in treasury notes, or five per cent. United States Government bonds, and twenty-five millions of dollars for every one hundred miles of railroad, in treasury notes, or five per cent. United States for the public lands to each company respectively.

A railroad communication with the Pacific is one of the great wants of the time, which must be obtained by Government patronage, and cannot be constructed in the Territories unless some such act is passed for that purpose. It must be evident the time of the premises."—Cleveland Plainted call., in the Senator of the time, which must be obtained by Government patronage, and cannot be constructed in the Territories unless some such act is passed for that purpose. A railroad communication with the resolution of the great wants of the time, which must be obtained by Government patronage, and cannot be constructed in the Territories unless some such act is passed for that purpose. It must be evident the sooner this is done the better it will be for the great interests of this country, as well as for other nations, both in Europe and in Asia.

In time of war the Pacific coast is so separated from the Atlantic—so remote from the seast of Government and the sources of supply—that it would be cut off from defence against an active maritime enemy, except at an enormous cost, and under heavy disadvantages, amounting, in critical circumstances, to an abandonment by our Government.

This bill is intended to remedy this evil. The Government is protected in this bill in every form that can reasonably be demanded from parties forming a private enterprise in so vast an undertaking as these two roads. The bill restricts the payment of bonds, or the issue of the patents for the lands, on the completion of the road and telegraph for fifty miles, and it imposes the construction of five hundred miles of railroad and telegraph within six years after the passage of the active the rights and privileges are all forfeited to the Government of the United States, over such protions of the roade and tolegraph within six years after the passage of the control and monopoly of an overal for the bonds is to be in services to be performed for the bonds is to be in services to be performed for the bonds is to be in services to be performed for the bonds is to be in services to be performed for the company. The bill proteots the Government, as the whole payment for the Control and monopoly of an overal manuel from the control and monopoly of an overal manuel from the control and monopoly of an overal manuel from the control and monopoly of an overal manuel from the control and monopoly of an overal manuel from the control and monopoly of an overal manuel from the control and monopoly of an overal manuel
