voto cast at the late election in Chicage, 18,818 in all, the Tribune of that city claims that the popu. lation is now over 150,000-taking the ratio a light inhabitants for very vote cast. That paper, however, thinks it is hardly worth while to specu-late in the promises, as the United States census, so soon to be taken, will definitely settle the ques tion. In 1855 the State census showed a population of 83,509. If the claim of the Tribune now is correct, it would show an increase, in a little over four years and a half, of about 67,000.

They have both occupied the first social resilion, are finely educated, and one of them is the daughter of wealthy parents In pursuance of their mad project they paoked up quite an extonsive wardrobe of dresses, and by some means made their way undiscovered to the railroad depot, on Friday last, but, arriving there fortunately too late for the train, they ware forced to forturn to the clip, but, instead of geing to their homest two yooke lodgings for the night at a board-ing house near the Capitol, deubtless with the in-tention of proceeding with the execution of their plan the next day. In this, however, they were defeated by the action of their relatives, who had in the meanime discovered their where abouts, and they were consequently rescued from what might have become a sad fate.
