The News from the Gulf. We are happy to notice that the action of the American forces in the Gulf of Mexico, in capturing the piratical expedition sent to the assistance of Min show, in his slege of Vera Cruz, is generally approved by the American press, and e have no doubt that public opinion will cor respond to this favorable judgment. Captain TROMAS TURNER, of the United States sloop of war Saratogs, a citizen of Pennsylvanis, (his family now maiding in Philadelphia,) led in the stack upon the cornairs. He is one of the fast men to act without orders or with out full reflection and ample provocation. He is, although attached to a warlike branch of the public service, in every sense of the word, a Christian gentleman, an active and conscien-tious member of the Episcopal Church, and a man of the strictest morality of deportment. No officer in the navy is more thoroughly versed in maritime law, or more familiar with current events. It is because we know the honor of the country is safe in his hands, that we feel confident that the action of our forces in the Gulf of Mexico is worthy of the public approval. Whether this event will lead to a war will depend upon the course that may be taken by MIRANON, backed by the Spanish and othe MIRANON, DACKSG Dy use opamies and outer foreign influences. Of all men he is the last to intrigue for political position. We are not surprised, however, that party leaders, who are constantly seeking for available candi-take the set of the point of the point of the set of the se Miramon h ad notified the foreign vessels in port that he would commence the bombardment of Vers Crus on the night of the 18th instant, and would not be re-sponsible for the shipping anchored under the castle. On the night of the 13th, the American officers on the deck of the steamer General Miramon heard a heavy cannonading in the direction of Vers Crus. With he two atsamers captured there were six mor-tars, six twenty-four pounders, and a stand of small arms. The steamers are worth $60,000. The steamers broke down when the third day out from Havana, and put the Usus!. The materials of war were stored away below, out of sight, and the mea were igno-rant of the destination of the oxpedition, and forced into the service.

These were the statistical data brought forvard Ly the British War Secretary to show ward by the British War Secretary to show gerous operation, and engaged in business in that there was no truth in the charge that there was an undue number of officers in the English irmy. On one point, a triffe more important -namely, the comparative cost of national defence in the leading countries of Europe-Sir ROBERT PEEL, an able but eccentric man, voluntarily supplied some interesting information to Mr. HEASERT, who had shirked that point of the question. Sir-ROBERT FILL said he had ascertained that in France the expenditures for national defences amounted to one-half the public income ; in Russia, one-third ; Austria, as overy one knew, was entirely crippled; in Prussia this expenditure was one-fourth of the public revenue; in Belgium, one-third; in Sardinia, forty per cent.; in Holland, one-fifth; Switzerland, one-tenth; and, as to Spain, it was hardly possible to form any estimate respecting an army which took three months to go about fifteen miles. Again, in the budget of 1861, the effective of the French army, like that of the year previous, was 892,000 men, and 88,000 horses. The total military expenditure mounted to £18,800,000, while the English army estimates were £14,842,000, without the militia, showing an excess over the French estimates of £1,042,000. This proved the extravagance of the British expenditure. The French army contained 56,000 men, and 58,000 horses more than the effective of the British army, and yet England spent £1,042,-000 more than France. There can be no doubt that the British sol. lier costs more than the French, and is by no means so well taken care of, for the money. MYSTERIOUS AFFAIR-AN ABANDONED SCHOONER -The schooner Telegraph of New London, Cap-tain Listare, this merning, about six o'clock, when
