THE NEW YORK POST OFFICE DEFALCATION AND

Notwithstanding the flurry and excitement with which this gay city has been flooded by the advent of our guests from the antipodes, and the wild busses from the Chicago Convention, still the enormous desciency in the New York post once nodes its sway as an interesting theme of discussion among the crowds of strangers who are constantly on the wing, arriving and departing to and from the fine hotels on Pennsylvania avenue. The New York post office disclosure is a sore annoyance to the President and Attorney General BLACK. The Post Office Department has, or should have, a thorough knowledge of the revenue of all the im portant post offices, as well as the amount of drafts system is, or it should be, so complete that the Postmister General might, at any moment, with a glance, closely approximate to the sum which each postmaster had in hand, and was required to pay over, at the time he made his last pay ment to the Treasurer. No doubt but these glaring irregularities in the New York office, and the withholding of balances of such magnitude as $155,090, has, or should have been, frequently disused before the President and his level adviser this affair that keeps it alive among ourious in-quirers. Why did not Attorney General Black, long ago, insist upon immediate proceedings against the New York post office? Why did the resident, who delights in the political death of an old friend, delay to put his heel on Fowner until after the adjournment of the Charleston Conven-tion, and of which body Fowner was a member from New York? Even your Senator Brates. looks perplexed and vexed when interrogated for his epinion of this post office mystery. POWLER'S PRIVATE ACCOUNTS. A gentleman direct from New York states tha an examination of Postmaster Fowler's private excounts discloses the fact that, while his office was admirably conducted, he loaned money to every friend who was in need-even to the mest ob-source and influential. It may be out of my order to sear and industrial. It may be out of my order to say it, but I do sympathise with a man who in his own prosperity does not forget the soor and the needy. There is no sympathy for the rich man who uses the public money for his own purposes, but there ought to be, if any, for him who gives the money of Uncle Sam to the really needy.

The question is whether John Rozzins, Jr., lat-Damouratic candidate for Mayor of Philadelphia and delegate to Charleston, will claim his seat, at Baltimore, and prevent SAMURE MEGARGER from repeating the deliberate misrepresentation of h stituents which marked his conduct at the Charleston Convention. > SEWARD'S PRIENDS DISSATISFIED [Special Despatches to "The Press."]

: CRICAGO, May 19, 1860. The nomination of ABRAN LINCOLK, although not entirely unexpected, took even his friends by surprise. He was as little known to the delegates of the Republican party assembled in Convention as he is known to the country at large, and this was shown by the fact that no one attempted to liscuss his character or the effect of the nomina tion upon the country at large, but only regarded it in connection with the disappointed candidates, and the probability of improbability of FRWARD, CAMBRON, BATMS, and the other prominent leaders endorsing it or repudiating it, and destroying the unity and hopes of republicanism. A rumor was started early in the evening that Sawaro had telegraphed to his friends that he would support Lincoln, and had pledged the State of New York for him by a heavy majority. This spread like wild-fire, and the Illinois delegates took heart from it, for they had been expecting the worst, the New Yorkers having shown unmistakably that they were bitterly dissatisfied with the defeat of their favorite. WEED, I learn, denied that SEWARD had drawn on each office, and the sum paid over to the Sub-Treasurer by each postmaster at the regular intervals designated by law. This to his ears, and now the Illinoisians, who were the only parties at heart really gratified with Lincoun's nomination, are all in the downs again. coun's nomination, are sai in the downs again, ohio nominated Livacous on the third ballot, four of her delegation changing their votes and thus giving him a majority. A number of the Massachusetts delegation who had voted for Sawann tried to be beforehand with the Ohio delegates in chusetts delegation who had voted for Shward tried to be beforehand with the Ohio delegates in changing, but Annun, of Massachusetts, the President of the Cenvention, who was epposed to Shward from the start, did not feel disposed to show any of his colleagues who had been friendly to Mr. Shward to enjoy the honor of making the nomination, and Selused them the floor, giving Ohio the preference. There is no doubt that the Ohio delegation would gladly have united on WADE—for he had strong and devoted advocates and supporters in almost all of the criber of Governor CRASE and, his friends, which was the more objectionable, inasmuch as it was purely added to insense the a annighted his accounts from the Red Sea of a recent date (says the Journal dis Havre) state that Capt de Russel, of the French navy, had signed at Gondar with the King of Abyssinia a tracty of commerce and friend the present and the prince is affected between the prince; family to be effected between the p coulsn'y bitter, declaring that had it not been for CRARB's opposition the Ohie delegation would have been a unit for WADE from the start, thus insuring his Governor Chass and his friends, which was the more objectionable, inasmuch as it was purely selfish, Chass wishing to be a candidate himself in 1864, and fearful that Wans's nomination at this time would destroy his hopes.

It was generally admitted that had Pennsylvania itime would deltroy his hopes.

It was generally admitted that had Pennsylvania come out here with a candidate, and steadissily adhered to him, the nomination would have been yielded to her, but her delegation was so divided, and there were so many conflicting interests in it, that it exerted very little influence. There was only one bond of union between the Camero was only one bond of union between the Camero men, the Curtin men, and the straight-out Americans, comprising in part the People's party, and largely represented here in the Young Men's and represented here in the Young Men's are particularly indignant at this, and charge that it is could ingratitude in return by the material aid ferriched by Mr. Shward's representative man, the Courtes Committee of Pennsylvania, $500, to aid mearrying the late spring election in Philadelphia.

Besides, Pennsylvania might have hid the Vice Presidency, for there was a general disposition on the part of the Convention to place John Hills.

And in nomination for that office, but when his name was proposed in a meeting of the delegation of the delegation of the courte of the convention to place John Hills.

Mr. Albanent, of Pennsylvania, presented to the Committee on Platform the resolution on the b. McCuelland, late of the United States army, and now the energetic vice president of the Ilit nois Central Railroad. Captain McCuelland, is in their last State Convention, and asked them to incorporate it in the platform; but this they reto incorporate it in the platform; but this they re-fused, preferring a less explicit and less intelligible declaration of principles on this subject. What "the policy of national exchanges" clause of the resolution, as adopted, means no one knows. Gov. REEDEN says that he is utterly unable to understand it, and that when the platform was first read in Convention, he would have seked the chairman of the committee to explain it, but there was so much noise and confusion in the hall that he could not have made himself heard, and therefore allowed it to pass. All the Democrats from the Northwest whom ] have seen since the nomination admit that the nomination of Lincoln was the strongest one that ould have been made against them in this section They do not doubt their ability to carry Illinois sgainst him for Judge Douelas, and are willing and are offering to bet that in the event of his nomi-nation they will carry the State by ten thousand majority but they say it will be after a hard fight, and that if the "Little Giant" is not their leader in the contest they have not the shadow of a shance. There was not as much enthusiasm manifested in the streets of Chicago after the nomination as I expected to see. At least half an hour elapsed after its announcement before a gan was fired, and the only procession I saw was the Young Men's People's Party Club of Philadelphia, who paraded the streets headed by Henry's band, and followed by Captain Baypand, but no one following it. The demonstration was a very slim one, the only noticeable feature in it being two fence rails carried at the head of the Philadelphia Club. Fence rails will likely figure prominently in the coming campaign, a story having just been published of a presentation made that the manufacture of the published in the manufacture of the prominently in the coming campaign, a story having just been published of a presentation made.

fence rails, said to have been split once on a time by "Old Abe" himself. Of course, this piece of manual labor, on his part, ought to make him im-mensely popular with the laboring classes of the country, and this was evidently the idea of the gentlemen who headed this procession with the rails on their shoulders. A large number of delegates and outsiders left here last night, and this morning and to-morrew night most of those who stay behind will take their departure. Thurlow WEED remains on the ground, and will probably visit, on his way home incompany with the Republican leaders from other States, Mr. Lincoln, at Springfield, to make the necessary arrangements for the campaign, &c. These arrangements will very much depend upon the promises of the nomines in relation to his Cabi-net, if he is elected. It is also said that New England's representative in Mr. Lincoln's cabinet will be the President of the Convention, Mr. Ashmun, of Massachusetts. A place is to be reserved for Governor Chass, of Ohio, whilst Hunny S. Lang, of Indiana, the present Republican candidate for Governor in that State, will be provided for in the event of his defeat, which is considered probable. FRANK BLAIR of Missouri, is talked of as certain for the Attor ney Generalship, and New Jersey is to be made enthusiastic for the ticket by the prospect of her Republican Committee, regret that they did not call the Convention to meet at Phiadelphia instead

A message from the President was received and taken up.

The message calls the attention of Congress to the capture of the slaver Wild Fire, with fire hundred and seven negroes, by Capt. Craigen, of the Mohawk, on the 20th of April. The negroes were carried to Key West, Florida, on the 30th of April, and delivered to the canody of the United States marshal of the Southern District of Florida, the question arises, what shall be done with the negroes? The President refers to title dase of the slaver Echo, when the negroes were seat back by an agreement with the Colonisation Society, and suggested that Congress authorize the President to make a general agreement with the Colonisation Society to cover all future cases. In consequence of the increased activity of the slave trade, such cases are likely to become frequent, and anaething must be done. These negroes are now at Key West, at an expense already incurred of twelve thousand dollars; but worse than this, the yellow fever is likely to come to Key West, and the marshal tirges their removal at an early day.

The message was referred to the Judiciary Committee.

National Guard, of this city, have taken the pre-liminary steps towards organizing as a regiment of six companies. The board of officers have pre-pared a plan for a regimental organization, which has been adopted by the company, and the change will be made in a short time. The Guard have now more than 200 members on their setive roll now more than 200 memoers on their scrive foil, and upwards of 200 uniforms. The new organisa-tion will tend greatly to develop the strength of the command, as each company will feel a pride in being out the strongest., The advantages of a regiment all equipped in one uniform will soon be presented to our citizens in the most favorable light. The time for the proposed change has not yet been decided, but will probably be settled the present week. It is not improbable that the Guard may be inspected as a regiment before they go to samp, on the 5th of July next.
