An essay was next read by the Rev. Mr. Cornell, on the "Life of Amos Lawrence," The essay opened with the autgestion that reflections upon such a life by young men was profitable. Mr. Lawrence's ancestry was first referred to. He was born at Groton, Massachusetti, April 22, 1783. Much of his eminence as a useful man was due to the early precepte of his mother, who had in, her obstracter united the kindest sympathies with undaunted energy. His subject received his first education at the district school of Groton. oc23 2t* SPECIAL NOTICES. FOR COUGHS, OR FOR ANY DISEASE OF THE Breatking Organs, use J. R. STAPFORD'S OLIVE TAR and RON AND SULPHUR POWDERS, which are advertised in this paper. The Olive Tar induses magnetism or vitality, allaying at once any pain or oppression, and it great balsamic properties heal sormass and inflammation. The Iron and Sulphur Powders, being a soluble preparation, unite with the directed food, and enter with it into the formation of now blood, the iron retaining the vital or life, giving forces in the blood, which in its circulation is diffused through the entire system. The combined sulphur converts the waste or worn-out particles of the blood into gases, which are expelled from the body through its porces, by the increased energy given to the circulation. It is these wastes or worn-out particles of blood that form palegm and tuber-less, and it is their sacid humor which irritates and destroys the membranes of the throat, bronchial tabes, and air-cells of the lines.
