MATTY TTEMS

WEREE TO GET TERU.-As merry old winter pyrotoches and the ladies are discussing the question f their winter wardrobes, a prominent inquiry is, Where shall we buy our Furs ? We are happy to meet his inquiry, in & manner that will make all who heed Lus magning, in a manner that will make all who heed our advice remember as with gratitude, by informing our fair readers that one of the most magnificent mooks of Féris, embracing corry article belonging to the trade, sver offered in this country, is now the worder and edmination of all who visit the splendid establishment of more under the factor of the court of Memory Charles Oakford & Sons, under the Conti ertai Hotsi. All their other departments are now qualiy complete, and their store in all days and mathem is hance alive with oustomers.

WEQ 18 TINNINS ?-The question of who is Tummings sedwided in interest with the identify of the man who struck Billy Patterson. A poetionl inquirer writes:

"Tell me, Timmins, tell me true, In what gath did I mesty yu? Robed in gauxe of spotless white, Or in breadcloth, black as night?" It is said that Timmins is a respectable individual of the male personsion, and that on the occasion referred to above he was elsed in a suit of "forcadloith black as night," the said suithaving come from the Brown-Stone Clocking Mall of Rockhill & Wileon, Nos. 603 and 603 Cheersan girest, above Sixth. where it is more is plendid stock of garments for gentlemen and youths will be found. How To BE HAPPY.-The happiest man in this work lathe man of moderate desires. Wealth is an earlyhe thing; so is distinction; so is power; so is learning-so are all combined. But he who enjoys each or all of these, and still vainly desires more, is not happi. The is not contented, and discontent is infeli-city;. On the contrary, he who has little, yet wants less, is vish-for he has more than he needs; whether it be housing; or honous, public eclar, or private enforments the result is fill the same, if he providently buys his cleates at the one price fashionable emporium of Gran-ville Stokes, No. 607 Chestnut street, where a valuable over is presented with each article sold.

THE GRAND TESTIMONIAL CONCERT to George Feitz Henkert takes place this evening, at the Musical Fund Hall. Mad. Johannsen, Thos. Bishop. Geo. W.
