Weekly Review of the Philadelphia Markets. Weekly Review of the Philadelphia Markets.

Philadelphia, Nov. 16, 1850.

The unsettled staté of our political relations with the South, and the exciting news from that quarter, have operated unfavorably on business generally, and the markets have been very dull this week. Bark is wanted at last week's quotations. Breadstuffs are dull. Corn Meal is firmer, but Wheat and Flour are lower. Candles are unchanged. Coal is active. Coffee is in moderate request at full rates, but Sugar and Molsaces are very dull. Cotton is less active. Fine heal slowly. Fruit is less active. The Iron market is quiet. Naval Stores are very dull. Oils—There is a firm feeling, and for Sperm higher rates have been demanded. Plaster is unchanged. Provisions—The transactions have been light. Kino is lower. There is no Salt here in first hands.—Cloverseed is in good demand. Tallow is rather better. Tobacco is firm. Wool continues dull, and prices without much change. Frèight's are advancting.

The Branarsurys market has been dull and unsetled during the past week, and the demand for Flour, both for export and home use, quite limited, the week's sales only reaching some 4,00025,000 bbls, part for shipment, at $5.255.50 for common mixed and good straight superfine, including 700 bbls, part for shipment, at $5.255.50 for common mixed and good straight superfine, including 700 bbls, part for shipment, at $5.255.50 for common mixed and good straight superfine, including 700 bbls, part for shipment, at $5.621a5.75; and family at $5.877; at 62.5 per.bbl, as in quality—the market closing very inactive, and the sates mostly to supply the walks of the trails at the above figures for superfine.
