MEETING OF MANUFACTURERS TO TAKE SOME MEANS OF REDUCING THE AMOUNT OF PRODUCTIONS.—A meeting of influential gentlemen, manufacturers of cotton and woollen goods in Philadelphia and violaity, was held at the establishment of Garsed & Co., No. 22 North Front street, yesterday nown. About forty gentlemen were present. Mr. Abraham Lakely, of Delaware county, presided. H. A. Duhring acted as secretary. county, president stated that the object of the meeting was to consider the present depressed state of affairs, and to agree upon sume plan by which less goods should be manufactured. By unanimity of action there could be less production without a general stodder. goods should be maintactured. By unanimity of action there could be less production without a general stoppage.

Mr. Richard Garsed said that it was evident that production must be decreased. The supply was greater than the demand. The partial stoppage in 1857 had been attended with good effects, and he believed that it would now be attended with like beneficial results. He regretted that there was so little harmony among persons where there is so great an interest. There is no market at home er abroad, and some way of lessening the supply generally, and fairly distributing the reduction, should be devised.

Mr. John Dunlap made some remaks on the philosophy of trade. It labor is in excess of the demand, there must be depression, without regard to political causes. When there is an overglut of goods, prices must inevitably earne down. There are too many goods made, and the supply must be diminished, or these made must be sold at ruinous rates.

The president again used the precession of the made.

must be diminished, or those made, and the snpply must be diminished, or those made must be sold at ruinous rates.

The president again urged the necessity of reducing the supply, or there would be a general crash through the glut of goods. He was opposed to reducing prices of labor, but he wanted to see the mills run half time. He thought the depression would be temporary, and it only needed a unanimous lessening of the supply to prevent serious loss.

Mr. William Bowers proposed that the meeting pledge itself to unity of action.

Mr. Garsed moved that a second meeting should be held, where there would be a more general representation of the large interests involved.

Mr. Kunt also made some remarks. It was evident that a great diversity of opinion prevailed among the manufacturers.

After some further discussion the meeting adjourned to meet again en Saturday at noon, the porsons present agreeing to sign the call for the second meeting.

After adjournment, the manufacturers gathered in knots to discuss the questions at issue. We understood that the political crisis had materially affected the demand for certain goods, and that goods of a certain kind had been manufactured in immense quantities. Unless greater unanimity prevail among the manufacturers, little can be done.
