A number of pistols were discharged, and bowle-knives and "billios" were discharged, and bowle-knives and "billios" were freely used. A number of pistol-shots took effect in the windows and wall'of the placo, but, as far as could be ascerialed, no one was shot. The noise attracted the attention of the police, who reshed into the place, and took the following named 1 ereons into custody : John Baird, Edward Wood, Leelle Earles, William Bogge, Danlel Pol-lock, and Robert Logden. Two of the prisoners, Beird and Wood, it is alleged, had in their posses-sion pistols, which they threw sway when arreat-ed. They were both held in $1,000 bill by Alder-man Patobel to answer at court. Leelle Earles was also held to answer at charge of having in his possession conseled deadly weapons. Mr. Biggardt, Mr. Bordenheim, Mrs. Bo-esnheim, and Mr. Essen were very slok yesterday, and still confined to their beds. They are not considered dangerous The remainder of the vic-tims are almost fully recovered. One of the mon who was taken slok refused to take the emotios prepared by the physicians, saying that he had pe-culiar view concerning the matter, and he would prefer suffering to medicine. Moritz Mendelsohn, the alleged poisoner, will have a hearing as soon as the parties are sufficiently recovered. The opinion of those who know him is that he is not al-together compos ments. something. Beit known, therefore, that John Ross Dix, Esq., hai writton a most ren arkshie New Year's story--remark-able alike for its intensely amusing and thrilling narra-tive, genius, and power, which caunt fail to carry with it delight and anusement into the household of every family in the land. Seldom, if over, has a story been ubblished more suited for universal perusal at the sommencement of a new yoar. The records of the wonderful tales told by the pilgrims and pedlers who were all snowed up on the memorable occasion referred o, are all happily blended together by the author in a tyle at once genial, attractive, and entertaining in this workory.
