LIST OF LETTERS REMAINING IN Death of Lola Montez. (From the New York Evening Post of Saturday.)

We have to day received information of the death of Lola Montey, one of the most remarkable and versatile women of the present age—one whose life is a romande—whose career presents the various phases of a countess and public lecturer, of a king's favorite, and a dancer in a second-class thesare. [For The Press.] ME. Enrose: I have thought much upon the present Secession movement in reference to its future developments, and will give my opinion. It was said of old that "whom the gods wish to destroy they first make mad;" and this seems to be the condition of those States in the South who have declared for secession. But, let us take a Southern view of this subject. Suppose that a contederacy should be formed, such as they contemplate, what would be its relative condition on our own continent?

In the first place, if Maryland, Virginia, Kentucky, Tennessee, and Missouri should be st once destroyed—no power an earth could save them. It would be the settled policy of all the States on their borders to render their slave property as insecure as possible, to withdraw them from the unnatural—the unholy alliance—involving them in endiess disputes, iends, and border warfare, unit the slaves should fairly understand the issues, and then regular stampedes would occur, and servile insurrections, until the very existence of these States would depend upon the liberation of their slaves; and in the course of time they would seek a reunion with the free States, and oxydia control of their slaves; and in the course of time they would seek a reunion with the free States, and carried free labor to the very borders of those States which now feel secure in their cowardly attempts at secession. This is only a question of time, and the results are inevitable.

And still further: the laboring white population, feeling their degraded condition in the South, would, in process of time, leave the slave territory and come to the North, leaving only the slaveholders behind to protect their interests, and that coo, with an enemy in their midst more to be dreaded than the free States would summon against them. It would be the settled potential provides and extended to access the full providence who as of the palatial and weddings in his day, may be live many years ignorant that the Lole and the results are inevitable.

And still further: the laboring white population, feeling their degraded condition in the South, would, in process of time, leave in the providence of the palating to the providence of the palating to the providence of the palating to the providence of midable odds against them? Richardson & Co. GENERAL NEWS. THE PRINCE OF WALES AT RICHMOND.—Lord Lyons has written the following letter in reply to one from Mayor Mayor of Bishmond.—This vexed question may now be considered settled:

Sir: I had yesterday the honor of receiving the letter dated the 28th of last month, in which you ask me to inform you whether, at any time or place, during the visit of the Prince of Wales to Richmond, I saw or heard anything invaliding, unkind, or discourteous to his Hoyal Highness.

I unhesitatingly answer that I neither saw nor heard anything invaliding, unkind, or discourteous to the Prince. I considered the reception of his Royal Highness at Richmond to be in no degree inferior in courtesy and cordinality to that which he met with in the other cities which he visited in the United Sistes. I need say no more to assure you that it was regarded as perfectly satisfactory, and remembered with pleasure and gratitude.

Overseventy panes of glass were flustered by it, clapboards were thrown of, the plastering was torn from the wall, and a picket fence, in front of the house, was splintered. Two ladies sitting in one of the room, upon finding the lively visitor had passed within ten feet of them, fainted, but were not injured. In addition to thus, the field went into the well, which has since refused to yield any of the squeous convenience; for which it was specially designed. So it appears that the malignity of January lightning equals that of the hottest months of summer. Headaches may be classified under two names, viz: Symptomatic and Idiopatine. Symptomatic Headache is exceedingly common, and is the procursor of a great variety of diseases, among which are Apoplexy, Gout, Rheumatism, and all febrile diseases. In its nervous form it is sympathetic of diseases. In its nervous form it is sympathetic of disease of the stomach, constituting sick headache, of hepathol duscase constituting sitieus headache, of worms, constipation, and other disorders of the bowels, as well as renal and uterine affections. No one of the "many ills flesh is heir to" is so prevalent, so little understood, and so much neglected as Coattweness, often originating in carelessness, or sedentary habits. It is regarded as a slight disorder, of too little consequence to exoite anxiety, while in realisty it is the procursor and companion of many of the most fatal and dangerous diseases, and unless early cradicated, it will bring the sudierer to an untimely grave. Among the lighter evils of which Costiveness is the usual attendant are Headache, Colic, Rheumatiem, Foul Breath, Files, and others of like nature, while a long train of frightful diseases, such as Malignant Fevers, Aboesses, Dysentery, Distribus, Dysepsia, Apoplexy, Epilepsy, Paralysis, Hysteria. Hypochondrissis, Melanchly, and Insanity, first indicate heir presence in the system by this alarming symptom. Not unfrequently the diseases tamed drighnafs in Constipation, but take on an independent existence unless the cause is cradicated in an early stage. From all these considerations, it follows that the disorder should receive immediate attention whenever it cocurs, and no person should neglect to get a box of Cephalic Pills on the first appearance of the complaint, as their timely use will expet the initialoids approaches of disease, and destroy this dangerous fee to human life.
