LITERATURE.

HARPER'S WEEKLY.
We have a new and pleasantly and daintily, in looking over the fifty-two numbers of Harper's Weekly, during the year 60, which make up Vol. IV. In truth, this is not only a record of the year's annals, but it also contains a vast amount of valuable and interesting matter, as a whole illustrated by engravings from the best artists at home and abroad. Here, in 382 quarto pages, is an amount of good, reading equal to some thirty or forty average volumes. There is a sprinkling of wit and humor, of essays and poetry, of fiction and biography, of news and current events, of a language pretty near of pleasing all. Among the original tales, written and illustrated expressly for this volume of Harper, are Mr. Curtis's "Trump," which we hope to see republished as a book; Lieut. Wiso's "Captain Brand," which has already been published in the "New York Herald," and "The Story of the Army," the head and tail of which we have connected, and a score or two of capital tales, each good enough for a first-class magazine. Besides, there are, liberally illustrated too, Charles Lever's "Day's Ride," Wilkie Collins's "Woman in White," "Dickens "Uncommercial Traveller," "Christmas Story," and "Great Expectations," and other foreign works of merit, backed by the agreeable amenities of "The Lounger," and the best accounts written or pictured of the Japanese, the "Woman in White," the "Story of Myself," the "Prisoners of War," "Visit to Sardis," and the "Italian Army," which provided the Italian army will suspend the rest of the year.

FURTHER FROM EUROPE.

ARRIVAL OF THE STEAMSHIP ARAGO.
LOSS OF THE SHIP BRANDYWINE.

The gentleman of the neighborhood. A deposition of about one hundred of the most influential members of the press and of the commissioner of Finance, and expressed entire confidence in the views of the Government regarding the income tax. They gave in substance of their property before the returns were issued.
The amount of the collection on the 21st of January during the season just closed was, in two cents, millions, and $2,000,000, the same amount obtained in 1859, and the same treaty with the Milan, regarding the assigned debt, had been signed in February of the year. The scarcity is severely felt in the upper part of the northwestern provinces, especially about Delhi and Amoy, and is being largely given by Government.

WORKS OF FICTION.

The Cloud with a Golden Border, by Helen Hazlet, exhibits some talent, but belongs to a class of novels—the religious—which we do not like. Let a story be a story, and a romance be a romance, but do not turn the sermon of the pulpit into the romance of the novel. The main purpose of Mrs. Hazlet's book is to show that a Christian, a man whom we call a Christian, an occurrence, we can tell her, which rarely takes place; for the Hobbes race cling very closely to their ancient faith. That Mr. Mordecai, a Hebrew of Hebrews, should become not only a Christian, but a preacher, is too improbable a development in the history of a Jew, and as a romance as only to make an exception to the rule.

THE BANK OF ENGLAND.

The Bank of England, the morning shortly after the commencement of the year, has a surplus
