P. BELLINGHAM, an eminent physician of London, and is warranted to bring out a thick set of WHISKERS, OR A MOUSTACHE in from three to six weeks. This article is the only one of the kind used by the French, and in London and Paris it is in universal use. Paris it is in universal use.

It is a beautiful, economical, soothing, yet stimulating compound, acting as if by magic upon the roots, causing a beautiful growth of luxuriant hair. If applied to the scaip it will cure baddress, and cause to spring up in the place of the hald spots a fine growth of new hair. Applied according to directions, it will turn ere to row yet hair park, and restore gray hair to its original color, leaving it soft, smooth, and fiexible. The "ONGUENT" is an indispensable article in every gentleman's tolet, and after one week's use they would not, for any consideration, be without it.
The subscribers are the only Agents for the article in the United States, to whom all orders must be addressed.

SATURDAY, MAY 4, 1861 A Change of Tone. A Change of Tone.

It is curious to notice the marvellous change which has taken place during the last few weeks in the tone of the Southern press.

April opened with bluster. May comes in all meekness. Column after column of the most magnificent schemes of conquest and aggrandizement were printed in the newspapers; Jerreson Davis was to be another Napoleon, and Boston another Berlin, where he was to dictate his despotic edicts to the Western hemisphere. The Charleston Mercury tayered its confidential circle of readers with elabo to those who are curious upon such matters. The writers for the publication in question, or at least most of them, are ordained ministers of the Established Church of England, and it is on this account that their startling innovations upon the substantial truth of the sacred Scriptures are attracting so muob attention. The fatal error into which these divines are believed to have fallen is, that of unduly "spiritualizing," or rather ethereblizing the plain statements of the Bible. Thus, for example, they "Spiritualize" the death of the first born in Egypt, and the destroying angel, by saying that it is confidential circle of readers with a good demand at previous quotations. Cotton is at a stand still, the high views of holders as the same still, the high views of holders are suspending business. In Iron there is nothing doing, and no changes to note. Grogeries are extended, and the market generally is quiet and prices nominal. Indigo has been taken to these divines are believed to have fallen is, that of unduly "spiritualizing," or rather ethereblizing the plain statements of the Established Church of England, and it is on this account that their startling innovations upon the substantial truth of the sacred Scriptures are attracting so much attention. The fatal error into which these divines are believed to have fallen is, that of unduly "spiritualizing," or rather ethereblizing the plain statements of the Bible. Thus, for example, they "Spiritualize" the death of the first born in parations were intended in a Pickwickian s impregnable, that there was never an inntion of attacking it; and when nearly twenty thousand troops are bivouscked in the capital, Governor Letchen, of Virginia, obligingly informs us that he will never permit the soil of the Old Dominion to be the pathway of its invader. Mr. JEFFERSON DAVIS, who declaimed valiantly about gomery, now professes a desire to drop the word and make " treaties of amity and commerce mutually advantageous;" and even his sanguine Secretary of War, PERCEY L. WAL-KER, who, after the fall of Sumpter, prophesied that on the 1st of May the traitor standard would wave over the Federal Capitol, would, loubtless, be quite willing now to exchange all his hopes of conquest for a positive assurance that his own neck will be entirely sate. The following letter to General Scorr, signed by upwards of two hundred of our citizens, of all parties, was forwarded from this city, on Thursday last, by an officer of the army going to Washington, who took charge of it, and promised to deliver it into the veteran's own hands. The list of signers, hastily obtained, could readily have been in-

been afforded: PHILADELPHIA, April 30, 1861. o Legut. Gen. Winfield Scott, General in-Chief of the Army of the United States. SIR: The shock of a civil war in our beloved country, whose history, for more than half a contury, has been illustrated, not less by your wisdem and patriotism than the splender of your achievements in arms, will, we trust, justify this nown is precious to us. It is our richest inheritance, and we had fondly hoped to transmit it to our children, untarnished, as it came to us from In the civil strife which has just lighted up our land with an unnatural and deadly glare, we do not stop to inquire into the soundness of conflicting opinions as to the origin of the deplorable controversy. It is enough for us to know that the beloved and glorious flag of our Federal Union has been assailed, and we ask no further questions. In such a crists, we are for sustaining, to any and every extent, the constituted authorities of the Union, believing, in the language of Mr. Jefferson, that " The preservation of the General Governnent, in its whole constitutional vigor, is the sheet-anchor of our peace at home and safety abroad." While the Government stands by the flag, we stand by the Government. In this deter-mination we obliterate, for the time being, all traces of party difference, by which many of us have been heretofore widely separated.

As citizens of Philadelphia-a city which, we are sure, must be endeared to your recollections as it is to ours, by some of the proudest memories of the era of Independence-where the Declaration was signed-where the Constitution was signed, and from whence our illustrious founder sued to his countrymen his immortal Farewell Address we adopt this mode of testifying our admiration, and offering you our deep-felt thanks for your great services to your country, in this hour of her extremest peril-services which will rival in immortality, and, we trust, in their triumphant results, your early and subsequent renown in the second and third great wars of the United

At a time like this, when Americans, distin mished by the favor of their country, entrenched n power, and otherwise high in influence and station, civil and military, are renouncing their allegiance to the fisg they have sworn to support, pride to us to know that the General-in-Chief of the army remains like an impregnable fortress a the post of duty and glory, and that he will conti-nue to the last to uphold that flag, and defend it, if necessary, with his sword, even if his native State should assail it.

That your eareer of rare distinction may be pro onged for many years of continued usefulness t your country, and happiness to yourself, and that you may live to see that great country once have spent the winter evenings in giving them inmore in the enjoyment of the prosperity and renown among nations, to which your wisdom in nown among nations, to which your wisdom in council and your sword in battle have so largely contributed, is the anxious, earnest hope of those who here units in tendering to you, not only the assurances of their profound respect, but what we believe you will value as highly, the spontaneous tribute of loyal American hearts.

We have the hope to remain dressed.

States were to be rigorously excluded. Washington, as a matter of course, was to be taken in the very outset of the programme, and from that point operations against the North were to be advantageously directed through the aid of the "firm friends" of the South to be found in the Northern States. This is the way in which that timid journal, the New Orleans Picayune, was wont to bluster:

"Lincoln and his counsellors will be hemmed in by slaveholding States, which will girdle them seedly te pass—that the Government of the Black Republicans shall take its flight from the capital, and seek an asytum in the hospitality of some Republican State."

Since the marvellous uprising of popular sentiment in the North there has been a support of the sentiment in the North there has been as the close in a strict sense is a solecism, and stell sentence in a strict sense is a solecism, for, as the Word of God, who "is spirit," and stell sentence at $3.50 per bbl. Since the marvellous uprising of popular sentiment in the North there has been a change. The South is on its knees. The clarion notes of war have given place to the whining tones of suppliance. Yesterday they talked of extension and manifest destiny, and floating their rattlesnake flag from Faneuil Hall; to-day they speak mournfully of the horrors of war, subjugation, threatened home and firesides, and shedding fraternal blood. Then it was a pæan, now it is a jeremiad—the late song of triumph is now a tale of two. Within a week after the above-quoted bluster see how beseechingly the Picayane speaks:

"We, too, have a country and a flag, and in resisting the cohorts of Lincolsium, we are defending our country, not in the abstract sense only a six of assertials. A number kave already offered their in political or manunities to which we belong, and the political or manunities to which we belong, and in political or manunities to which we belong, and the political or manunities to which we belong, and in political or manunities to which we belong, and in political or manunities to which we belong, and in political or manunities to which we belong, and in political or manunities to which we belong, and in political or manunities to which we belong, and in political or manunities to which we belong, and in political or manunities to which we belong, and in political or manunities to which we belong, and the political or manunities to which we belong, and the political rights against which war is made, and a contract of the political rights against which was defended to a political poli ladelphis is abundantly capable of supplying. REV. DR. FULLER AND PRESIDENT LINCOLN .-The New York Chronicle, a leading Baptist paper, devotes an editorial to the Rev. Richard Fuller, D. D., a prominent Baptist of Baltimore, who officiated as spokesman of the late committee sent from the Baltimore Young Men's Christian Association to remonstrate with President Lincoln against his policy. Dr. Fuller's appeal in behalf of the rowdies and cutlaws of Baltimore is held up as having been in very bad taste for a Christian minister, especially one who "was bred to the law." Mr. Editor: In your paper of yesterday, you make the number of volunteers sent from this county, 1,860. We have sent from here, up to to day, twenty-two companies—1,945 men—besides a number that left here to join the companies in Washington, making about 2,000 men in all.

The relief fund of $12,020 was raised in the borough of Potteville alone. The county will raise for this purpose but little less than $100,001. It should be known that Schuyikill county sent the first men to Washington. Two of our companies were on there in twenty-four hours after President Lincoln's proclamation was received here. Our representative, Jas. H. Campbell, Earl President Lincoln's proclamation was received hurried to Washington, the moment the alarm was given, to shoulder the musket, and has been on duty at the capital ever since. As you say, we stand second to no county in the Union in arder and patriotism.
