BATTLE CREEK, Mich., Dec. 21, 1883.

PROY. WOOD: Thee will please accept a line to inform these that the hair on my head all fell off over twenty years ago, caused by a complicated covonic disease, attended with an eruption on the head. A continual course of suffering through life having reduced me to a state of dependence. I have not been able to obtain staff for case, neither have I been able to do them up, in consequence of which my head has suffered extremely from cold. This induced me to pay Briggs & Hodges almost the last cent I had on earth for a two dollar bottle of thy Hair Restrative hout the last of August last. I have faithfully followed the directions, and the baid spot is now covered with hair thick and black, though short; it is also coming in all over my head. Feeling condident that another large bottle would restore it entirely and permanently. I feel anxious to purchase any more, I would ask thee if thee wouldst not be willing to send me an order on thine agents for a bottle, and receive to thyself the Scripture declaration and the fatherless.

The Late Senator Douglas. The Washington Intelligencer of yesterday con tains the following note from J. Madison Cutts, the father in law of the late Senator Douglas.

Washingron, July 3, 1861.

To the Editors of the National Intelligence of making your paper the medium to convey Mrs. Douglas' and my own thanks to the friends of Judge Douglas for the generous sympathy they manifest toward her in the overwhelming calamity which has befallen her. It is true that, owing to the great depreciation of lands, the estate of Judge Douglas will searcely pay the mortgages upon the property; but Mrs. Douglas is anxious that her husband's creditors should receive to the extent of the estate their just dues.

There are but few small debts otherwise due. In the control of the state their just dues.

There are but few small debts otherwise due. In the state of the state their just dues.

These I shall endeavor to meet as soon as possible. So long as God spares my life my daughter and the children shall have command of such means as my unwearied exertions can procure for them. Mrs. Douglas is unwilling, in these embarrassed times, that the widow of Judge Douglas should claim more of his friends than the same true and stried devotion to his memory they have ever manifested to him in life.

I must apologize for thus claiming attention, but I have been induced to do so from my daughter's distress at observing the numerous generous and patriotic appeals in behalf of the family of Judge Douglas.

Yours, very truly, J. Madison Cutts. father-in-law of the late Senator DougLAS:

THE NEW BANKBUFTCY BILL.—The Committee of the Mercantile Law Amendment Society have issued their report upon the alterations made in the bankruptcy bill by the House of Lords It deplores the loss of the chief judge, and of those clauses which enabled the creditors to take the realisation of a bankrupt's estate out of the hands of the official assignce, and give it to agents selected by themselves. The committee express their opinion that unless the creditors' assignee clauses are restored the bill had better be rejected. A petition is now in course of signature, and has already been most influentially signed, asking the House of Commons to restore most of the provisions in the bill which were struck out by the House of Lords.

AMBRICAN SHIPS IN THE CLYDE—It was anticipated, at the breaking out of hostilities between the Northern and Southern States of America, that British shipping would be benefited to a very great extent by the withdrawal from the general carrying trade of American vessels, which would have the effect of raising freights, in consequence of the war risk charged on these ships, and the probability of our merchants being chary of shipping in American bottoms on any terms, from fear of non-delivery of their cargoes, or the chances of detention and stoppage; it not of absolute seizure. The probability was, therefore, that the American flag, except in the cases of the regular traders, would be almost banished from our ports. So far are these anticipations from being realized in this quarter, that we never, at any time, had so many. American ships in the Clyde at one time as at present. Not only those which have arrived here with cargo are taking in cargo outwards, but many vessels have come here from other ports, and are on the loading list, successfully competing with our shipping for freights, even under the disavantages of a high war, risk, which the ship, in most cases, pays.—Glasgow Herald.

The Rev. Dr. Cahill on American Affairs.

In his last letter in the Dublin Catholic Teles graph, the Rev. Doctor writes: "It is a singular sight to me, an Irishman, born and educated under it the penal laws and the oppressive Government of England, to look at the embodiment of the several volunteer corps of this country. Thousands of young fellows meet in companies, select their captains, and form a regiment, in fact, in the week. The greatest rivalship is evinced to see who can be the first in the new corps; and those are wetched, and when they cannot be received in a favorite regiment.
